Light on the silhouette

In all your attitudes before the eyes of friends and the world are you graceful? Silhouetted on the Golf Links, stepping into a Car, crossing a Ballroom, poised on tiptoe pulling an apple in the orchard, arranging a bowl of flowers or sitting at her desk, the lady who wears—

Royal Worcester
Kidfitting
Corsets

presents a graceful figure. It matters not if her corset cost only 7/11 like the one illustrated, or 4½ Guineas, the distinctive cut of the master designer is apparent in both; the only difference is in the quality of materials and finish. It is the enormous demand that enables us to sell corsets for a few shillings per pair the original models of which cost hundreds of pounds to design. No ordinary corset made to measure can approach the fit and style of Royal Worcester Corsets, designed as they are by the world's leading corsetier.

If you have not yet tried a pair allow our fitters to demonstrate for you what perfect corseting means.

320. A moderately priced corset for slender figures. It is an improved sports model with elastic insets at waist and hips. Four suspenders. Sizes 21 to 28. 7/11.

INVISIBLE DANGERS.

The eyes are made to see, but the eyes can't always see the invisible danger that lurks in badly ground or cheap quality Lenses. Dixon and Hempenstall, State Opticians, 12 Suffolk street, supply only the best Lenses, and their celebrated Axicut Pebbles absolutely preserve the sight.

BETTING FINES REDUCED.

In an appeal on behalf of Aaron Figatner, jeweller, of Wellington quay, from decisions of Mr. Lupton and Mr. Swifte fining him £50 in each instance for using his premises for the purposes of betting, the Right Hon. the Recorder reduced the fines in each case to £30. Mr. J. O'Connor (instructed by Mr. Quaid) appeared for the appellant.

SEQUEL TO A BETTING ACTION.

At the Dublin City Sessions yesterday, before the Right Hon. the Recorder, an appeal was heard on behalf of Thomas O'Reilly, 146 Upper Dorset street, from a decision of Mr. Swifte and Mr. Cooper in refusing to renew the licence of the premises on the ground that they had been used for the purpose of betting. Mr. Holmes (instructed by Mr. Healy, O'Flaherty) appeared for the police; and Mr. Healy, K.C. (instructed by Mr. C. Friery) for the appellant. It appeared that in October last a Mr. Dempsey went into Mr. O'Reilly's public-house and won £1,695, which he was not paid. An action was taken, the bet having been made on behalf of Mr. P. L. Smyth, a turf agent, but the defendant pleaded the Gaming Act, and judgment was given for the defendant. When Mr. O'Reilly applied for the renewal of his licence, which was opposed by the police and refused by the magistrates, it was stated that Mr. O'Reilly offered £500 in settlement of the bet. Mr. Healy contended that it was not fair to take away a man's whole business for a bet of one indiscretion. The Recorder said that he would not take the licence away, but he would allow the case to stand for the present.

A Metz telegram of Sunday says:—In the midst of enthusiastic cheers, President Poincaré awarded the town the Croix de Guerre, and returned to Paris after the ceremony.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

BIRMINGHAM, MONDAY NIGHT.

The class of the animals which contributed to the entertainment at Bromford Bridge to-day was in the main very moderate, indeed, and it was obvious to those who closely watched both the market and the racing that several of to-day's performers will be seen to better advantage later on. An improvement in the sport may be anticipated by intending visitors to-morrow, for which my selections are as follow:—Selling Hurdle—Jack Shepherd. Birmingham Steeplechase—Fleeting Peace. Burton Hurdle—Jenny Jones or Camelot. Tamworth Steeplechase—Kilnoracy. Bromford Hurdle—Bobby Dazzler. King's Norton Steeplechase—Fargue; if absent, Ally Sloper.

MEETING OF THE JOCKEY CLUB.

Assumed Names.

A meeting of the Jockey Club was held yesterday. Lord Wavertree, Mr. Reid Walker, and Major E. Clayton were elected members of the Club. Vicomte D'Harcourt was elected an honorary member.

Lord Penrhyn said that the Stewards desired to postpone the alteration to Rules 69 and 70.

Sir Hedworth Meux withdrew his amendment to Rule 93, and the Stewards' amendment was carried by 20 votes to 9, which means that no owner shall make use of an assumed name, and any horse entered by an owner under an assumed name shall be disqualified.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Herbert Jones, the King's jockey, is making satisfactory progress towards convalescence, but is still confined to bed.

Writing from Foulmartlaw, Belsay, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Capt. Bewicke wishes to thank the Stewards, the racing officials, trainers, and the racing community in Ireland for the welcome and kindness extended to him during his stay in this country.

HUNTING.

THE MEATH.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Weather conditions for the week-end hunting were favourable, but good scent has been lacking, more or less, since the season opened. Slane Castle was the tryst on Thursday, when the first fox was found in the Plan Wood after blanks in the underlying spinneys. He broke at once, and led down the declivity into the Glen, up the opposite side, and made Leslie's Gorse. After quite a lot of covert work, the fox went back towards the Glen, but, without entering it, he bore to the left into Little Wood, where he beat the pack. General Powell then went on to Hussey's Gorse, at Tankardstown. Hounds opened here all right, and again there was a great deal of covert hunting, this fox, however, refusing to break. Mr. J. McGlew's covert at Chamberstown was next drawn, and it held at least a brace. One fox was hunted over the Scotstown road up the Hill of Mullaha, then right-handed, down the vale through Scotstown, Gormanlough, and Cancestown, when the poor scent gave out completely, and home was the order.

Friday found hounds at Dunboyne, when a goodish field, as compared with war-time ones, assembled. Rooske Gorse, first drawn, held two foxes, one of them being hunted over the Midland Railway line down to Stirling, where he got to ground. A jog next to Wearingstown, where the 16½ couples of the mixed pack were at once busy. A fox from this good gorse led first out by Woodpark, then giving a big left-handed ring through Beggstown, part of Cookstown, and Vesington, back to covert, where he was left, and Rowanstown was drawn. Found here also, this fox being hunted to the road near Ballymaglasson. Here he went into a sewer, but bolted of his own accord just as a return move was being made to the covert. This time the pack ran into him after a field or two. Pelletstown Gorse, next drawn, gave a nice run towards Clonross, then right-handed into Parsonstown, where the fox vainly tried to find a hole in this well-stopped place. He led back to the covert, out again by Clonross, and into Johnstown, near Dunshaughlin village, hounds being beaten by disappearing scent. This finished a busy day.

HUNTING FIXTURES.

A HOLE IN ONE AT HERMITAGE.—When playing in a four ball match at Hermitage recently the professional, M. M'Dermott, holed out in one shot at the 12th, a hole which measures 110 yards. The extraordinary thing about the shot was that the ball pitched in the hole and stopped there.

BOXING.

GODDARD DEFEATS MacLAGLEN.

An Interesting Contest.

The outstanding feature of the programme at the National Sporting Club, London, last night was the 15 rounds contest between Frank Goddard and the ex-Guardsman, Capt. Victor MacLaglen. It was interesting in more respects than one. It marked the return of Goddard to the ring after his defeat as a British heavy-weight champion in a couple of rounds by Joe Beckett at Olympia in June. Then, again, he and his opponent, both of whom stand well over 6 feet, were the biggest men seen in a roped enclosure at the National Sporting Club since the memorable night of the Jackson v. Slavin fight in 1892, and, further, MacLaglen, who won his commission in the war and saw much service in the East, was generally an unknown quantity. Goddard had the advantage in years, but MacLaglen is only 30, and more than a stone heavier than his rival.

Three rounds sufficed to decide the contest, for Goddard, despite his deficiency in boxing science, was good enough to win. It was a hard, rugged fight while it lasted, but though MacLaglen was clever and fast at long range, he was always beaten in infighting. He had clearly the best of the first two rounds. Starting fighting at once, Goddard got in two leads to his rival's chin, but MacLaglen got his own back at once with blows to the face and body, and in subsequent exchanges he had the best of matters. On leaving corners for the second time MacLaglen, boxing fast and cleverly, forced his man to the ropes, and landed heavily with both hands, but in some hard exchanges at close quarters afterwards Goddard had the best of the exchanges, and some of his short-arm blows to the body obviously told. When the third round started, Goddard went in at once to fight his man, but though MacLaglen, because of his smart footwork, avoided his onslaughts for a time, and once brought his right flush on Goddard's jaw, Goddard directly afterwards uppercut him with the right. MacLaglen staggered back under the blow, and Goddard, dashing in, drove in the right to his rival's jaw. Under the blow MacLaglen sank to the floor, and was counted out.

SID STAGG v. JOE ATTWOOD.

The recently demobilised Sid Stagg, a useful welter-weight in his best day, is now advancing in the thirties, and, a little short of condition, he was rather easily outpointed by Joe Attwood at the Ring, London, yesterday. It was a fair contest, with few features. Attwood was the faster, but he could not hit hard enough to stop Stagg, who went thirteen rounds, and then retired.

JOE STARMER DEFEATS LOUIS RUDDOCK.

A good deal of interest was taken in the twenty rounds contest at Hoxton Baths, London, yesterday afternoon between Joe Starmer (Kettering) and Louis Ruddock (Leeds), but it was a disappointing bout. They were continually in holds after the third round, Ruddock being the chief offender, but at the finish Starmer gained the referee's award, and fully deserved it.

BILLIARDS.

INMAN v. NEWMAN.

Yesterday Inman and Newman, at the Burnley Mechanics' Institute, commenced a game of 9,000 up, Inman conceding 1,000. Play was of a very interesting description during the opening session, and the scoring very even. Both showed excellent form, Inman's principal breaks, made mostly by all-round play, were 93, 120, and 150, while Newman's best were 120 and 137 (unfinished). Interval scores:—Newman, 1,517; Inman, 569.

At the evening session Newman made his unfinished break into 151, which he followed up with 234 and 277. Newman monopolised the table, and added 104 and an unfinished break of 142. Inman's best was 45. At the close of play the totals were:—Newman (in play), 2,332; Inman, 794.

STEVENSON v. REECE.

These professionals continued their heat in the Victory Tournament at Burroughes' Hall, London, yesterday afternoon. Receiving 1,000 start in 15,500 up, Reece drew further away. Closing scores:—Reece (in play), 9,966; Stevenson, 7,684.

FALKINER v. PEALL.

The attraction this week at Thurston's, Leicester square, London, is a game of 9,000 up between these professionals, Falkiner conceding 2,000 start. Closing scores:—Peall, 2,995; Falkiner (in play), 1,462.

FOOTBALL.

RUGBY.

Bective Rangers 3rd v. Wanderers 3rd (M.L.)—Played at Donnybrook, and resulted in a win for Bective Rangers by 2 goals, 2 tries (16 points) to 1 try (3 points).

LAW REPORTS.

DUBLIN PROBATE SUIT.—The probate suit of Biggs v. Parker appeared in the list for trial by Mr. Justice Pim and a city special jury. The action was brought by Mr. Henry S. Biggs, of Stafford House, Merrion, Co. Dublin, to establish the will of the late Mrs. Georgina Young, late of Stafford House, dated 1916, with a subsequent codicil. The plaintiff, Mr. Biggs, was a nephew of the deceased, and executor of her will. The defendant, Mrs. Helena Parker, of Ealand Lodge, Merrion, is a sister of the deceased, and executrix of a will made by deceased in 1914. She sought to set aside the 1916 will on the usual statutory grounds. The action was tried last term, but resulted in a disagreement of the jury. When the case was called yesterday, Mr. Serjeant Sullivan announced that a settlement had been arrived at, the terms of which were not disclosed in court. Mr. Serjeant Sullivan, Mr. Serjeant Hanna, and Mr. Morgan Byrne (instructed by Messrs. Burton and Son) appeared for plaintiff. Mr. W. E. Wylie, K.C.; Mr. Albert E. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Hugh Kennedy (instructed by Mr. J. J. Lynch) appeared for defendant.

COMMISSIONERS FOR OATHS.—In the Court of Appeal, before the Lord Chancellor, an application was made on behalf of Mr. Wm. Lewis, solicitor, Clonmel, to be appointed a Commissioner for Oaths. It appeared from the petition that there was an existing vacancy for a Commissioner for Oaths in Clonmel, and it also appeared that all the existing Commissioners and local solicitors had signed the certificates in favour of Mr. Lewis' appointment. Mr. Gibson, K.C., with whom was Mr. M. J. Connolly (instructed by Messrs. Power and Lewis) appeared in support of the application. The Lord Chancellor made an order appointing Mr. Lewis Commissioner for the County Tipperary. On the application of Mr. C. F. Matheson (instructed by Messrs. Colfer and Son), the Lord Chancellor appointed Mr. Aidan P. Bolger, auctioneer and valuer, New Ross, a Commissioner for Oaths for the New Ross district.

ACTION AGAINST FORD MOTOR CO.—Mr. Justice Samuels gave plaintiffs leave to issue and serve a writ out of the jurisdiction in the intended action between the Thompson Motor Car Co., Ltd., Great Brunswick street, Dublin, and the Ford Motor Co. (England), Ltd. The plaintiffs claim damages for alleged breach of contract in the delivery of thirty-three cars. Plaintiffs acted as agents for the Ford Co., and orders for the cars in question were accepted by defendants, who afterwards repudiated the agreement and refused to deliver. Plaintiffs were threatened with actions by purchasers, and had lost £1,422 in commission on the thirty-three undelivered cars. Mr. Joseph Kenny (instructed by Mr. Thomas J. Farley) made the application.

AUCTIONEER AND CLIENT.—At Nisi Prius yesterday, before Mr. Justice Gordon and a city common jury, the action brought by Mrs. Annie M. Goodman against Arthur C. Bennett, auctioneer, to recover damages for the detinue of a quantity of books and furniture which she alleged the defendant held from her, was heard. The defendant by his defence stated that he had sold a considerable quantity of the goods, and accounted for the proceeds; that he had certain articles and the books in his possession, and that the plaintiff had refused to take delivery of them. In the statement of claim the plaintiff said that the defendant detained 27 boxes of books, 16 bundles of books, and certain articles of furniture. The plaintiff's husband, who was a music teacher and an inspector under the National Board, died in 1909. After his death she gave up her house in Rutland square, Dublin, and sent her furniture and books to be stored with Messrs. Strahan. A bill for £163 2/8 accrued for storage. Before that was paid the goods were removed to Messrs. Bennett's salerooms. For what had been sold there the sum of £156 10/- was received by Messrs. Bennett, who paid the £163 2/8 to Messrs. Strahan. For carrying out the sale they charged £13 15/3, and the result was that Mrs. Goodman had a debit balance against her with the defendant of £20 7/11. This was paid under protest. The plaintiff in her evidence said that she had disputed some of the items in Messrs. Strahan's bill; that she had not authorised the defendant to pay that bill, and also that she had not agreed to pay 7½ per cent. commission for the sale. Mr. Bennett had told her that the books, roughly estimated, were worth from £200 to £250. She had asked him from time to time to sell them, and he always put her off by saying that he would sell them some time in the future. In June, 1918, she wanted the books to be removed to another saleroom, but he declined to allow her to take them away until their storage was paid for. She did not know why Mr. Bennett did not sell the books. It was for sale that she sent them to his rooms, and not for storage. A civil bill for £35 5/- was served on her for storage of the books, and that civil bill was dismissed by the Recorder in February last, as well as a claim which she had brought against the defendant. In cross-examination the plaintiff admitted that Mr. Bennett had told her that it would not be worth her while printing a catalogue of the books. In February, 1918, Mr. Bennett wanted her to remove the books, but afterwards when she went to the place she could not get them. At the close of the plaintiff's evidence the Court rose. The defendants' case will be opened this morning. Counsel for the plaintiff—Mr. Denning, K.C., and Mr. Jos. O'Connor (instructed by Mr. Friery). For the defendant—Mr. Carrigan, K.C., and Mr. Rearden (instructed by Mr. M. L. Hearn).

"PRIEST'S BOY" OR AGRICULTURAL WORKER.—In the King's Bench Division, before the Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Dodd, and Mr. Justice Moore, an appeal was heard from a decision of the magistrates at Kingscourt (Co. Cavan) Petty Sessions on the 3rd September last, dismissing, on the merits, a summons in which District Inspector Fitzgerald, R.I.C., was complainant, against the Rev. S. Kelly, P.P., Kingscourt, under the Corn Production Act, 1917, for having paid Thomas M'Entee, an employé, described as an agricultural workman, wages at a lower rate than the minimum rate fixed by the Agricultural Wages Board, and applying for an order directing the rev. gentleman to pay M'Entee £23 19/4 arrears of wages alleged to be due up to the 12th of March last. The magistrates by a majority held that M'Entee was not an agricultural worker within the meaning of the Act, but was in reality what is known as a "priest's boy." It appeared from the evidence that Father Kelly owns a farm of about 35 acres, situated about a mile from the parochial house, which, it was stated, was sub-let, with the exception of some meadow land, and that M'Entee was the only general workman who was constantly employed on the farm and premises; but that in the cutting and saving of the hay the rev. gentleman employed four other men, who were paid by him. M'Entee received an increase of wages of 15/- a week, and, in addition, a pint of milk daily, three loads of manure, and the use of his employer's horses and carts when required. Besides his duties with regard to the farm, he had a number of duties connected with the chapel, of which he was sexton, and was also employed as messenger, etc. He had been allowed 6d. a week compensation by the County Court Judge in respect of the loss of the joint of his thumb as the result of an accident while cutting hay near the parochial house. In support of the magistrates' decision it was contended that M'Entee's principal avocation was that of sexton, or "priest's boy," and it was suggested that when his perquisites were taken into account his remuneration exceeded the minimum wage of an agricultural worker. The Court dismissed the appeal, being unanimously of opinion that they would not be justified in interfering with the magistrates' decision, as the question was one of fact. Mr. Wylie, K.C., and Mr. H. O. Holmes (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor) appeared for the Crown. Mr. Lardner (instructed by Mr. E. J. Duffy) appeared for the respondent.

CO. CORK UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY.—In the King's Bench Division yesterday, before the Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Dodd, and Mr. Justice Moore, in the case of the King (Ryan and Condon) v. Starkie, R.M., and another, Mr. Crowley (instructed by Mr. John M'C. O'Hea) applied for a writ of habeas corpus, and also a writ of certiorari, on behalf of Thomas Ryan and Maurice Condon, who were convicted on a charge of unlawful assembly by two resident magistrates, Messrs. Starkie and Brady, at Bandon (Co. Cork) Petty Sessions, on 13th inst., and sentenced to two months' imprisonment each with hard labour, and further ordered to give bail for good behaviour at the expiration of that period, or undergo another term of two months' imprisonment. Defendants were charged on information with having, along with a number of other persons, taken part in an unlawful assembly at Kilbrittain, near Bandon. The grounds of the application were that the conviction was bad on its face, because it only used the general term "unlawful" assembly, without specifying the particular acts alleged to have been committed, and that there was no evidence given at the trial that any special proclamation had been made or published declaring the Sinn Fein or any other organisation dangerous in that district or anywhere else, and that there was no evidence on which the defendants could be convicted of unlawful assembly, either under the Crimes Act or under the common law. Mr. Wylie, K.C. (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor), who, with Mr. Holmes, appeared for the Crown, submitted that this was a perfectly good order on its face, and that their lordships were accordingly prohibited from looking at the evidence. It was not necessary to mention any combination of persons by any distinctive name. The Court refused the order.

ATTACHMENT AGAINST A SOLICITOR.—In the King's Bench Division, before Mr. Justice Gibson, Mr. Justice Kenny, and Mr. Justice Samuels, in the case of the King v. Peel, Mr. G. W. Shannon (instructed by Mr. R. Martin) applied on behalf of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue for an order directing the issue of a writ of attachment against Mr. J. A. Peel, solicitor, Armagh, on the ground that, as surviving executor of the will of Samuel Andrew Davidson, late of Ballymageny, Co. Armagh, who died on the 13th March, 1911, he (Mr. Peel) had neglected to deliver to the Commissioners accounts of the property passing under the will of the deceased, and to pay the duty chargeable on it, as required by the writ of summons served on him in February, 1918. Accounts had been delivered subsequent to the service of the notice, but queries had been raised on them by the examiner, and had not yet been discharged.

The Court made an order for the attachment of the defendant, the order to lie in the King's Bench Offices for one month, the defendant to be informed in the meantime that it had been made.

Mr. Justice Gibson said that there must have been some mistake about the matter.

IRISH DISTRESSED LADIES' FUND.

A meeting of the Irish Executive Committee of the Irish Distressed Ladies' Fund was held at 4 Kildare street on Thursday last. Lieutenant-Colonel the Lord Frederick FitzGerald, Vice-Chairman, presided, there being also present:—Miss Butler, Miss McDonnell, Lady Morris, Miss Croker, Lady Moore, Right Hon. Sir John Ross, P.C., and Mr. Charles H. Chaytor. The Lady HolmPatrick, Miss Tottenham, and Mrs. Whyte wrote regretting they could not be present. The minutes of the October meeting were read and signed. Cash statement from the work depot was submitted. The list of pensioners was submitted, when cheques on foot of same for the month of December were sanctioned to the extent of £62. In addition, the Committee resolved, in view of the high price of coal, to give each pensioner a monthly fuel grant of £2 until further order. On reading letter dated 27th October from Judge Andrews, tendering his resignation of the Chairmanship of the Committee, his resignation was accepted with deep regret, and it was proposed by Miss Croker, seconded by Lady Morris, and unanimously resolved:—"The Irish Executive Committee of the Irish Distressed Ladies' Fund have received with the greatest regret the resignation of their Chairman, the Right Hon. William D. Andrews, P.C., owing to advancing years. They desire to place on record their warm sense of the benefits which he has conferred on the fund since his acceptance of the Chairmanship in the year 1912, evidenced by regular attendance at their meetings, when his sound judgment, united with his broad and generous mind, proved of inestimable value, the loss of which will be keenly felt by the Committee."

Miss McDonnell and Miss Butler then gave notice that at the next meeting they would respectively move and second:—"That the Right Hon. Sir John Ross, Bart., P.C., be appointed Chairman of the Committee in the room of Judge Andrews, resigned."

Claims were considered and grants awarded amounting to £32, when the Committee adjourned.

The Committee tender their warm thanks for the undernoted subscriptions received since 1st September last, and earnestly appeal for further contributions towards carrying on the work of the fund. All contributions will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the Hon. Treasurers or the Secretary:—

The Irish Times.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1919.

In consequence of the departure of the German delegates from Paris, the Supreme Council has addressed a Note to the German Government demanding a clear statement of Germany's intentions with reference to the Peace Treaty.

A War Office despatch reports that General Wrangel has made a successful advance in the Caucasus, taking 830 prisoners and 30 machine guns. In Southern Russia, however, the Bolshevik forces have gained ground.

A new Ministry has been appointed in Cairo, and the situation has improved. The two leaders of the agitation who refused to obey Lord Allenby's order to leave Cairo have been arrested.

The Irish Education Bill was introduced by the Chief Secretary in the House of Commons yesterday.

The Electricity Supply Bill, as amended in Standing Committee, was further considered on report in the House of Commons yesterday.

It was announced in Parliament yesterday that, from Monday next, the price of coal would be reduced by ten shillings per ton. Coke prices will be correspondingly lowered.

The first sitting of the Coal Industry Committee appointed by the Chief Secretary to inquire into the conditions and other questions relating to coal mining in Ireland was held yesterday in the City Hall, Dublin, under the presidency of Lord Justice O'Connor. Several expert and other witnesses were examined.

The deputation representing the Episcopal, Presbyterian, and Methodist Churches of Ireland left Belfast yesterday for the United States.

At the meeting of the Monaghan County Council yesterday, at which a deputation from the Sinn Fein Commission of Inquiry was to have been received, the Secretary stated that a Constabulary sergeant had called on him prior to the meeting and had informed him that the Commission was illegal and should not be heard. The meeting adjourned as a protest without transacting further business.

In London yesterday the Stock Markets were strong, and prices registered an all-round advance, except in Government Funds. The close was not far from the best of the day. Money was again in urgent demand up to 4¾ per cent. Discounts were firm, but not very active. There was a further rise in silver to 6s. 3½d. per ounce. In Dublin, City Steam, Bank of Ireland, and Coats were weak. Dunlop Rubbers, Dundalk Steam, Parent Tyres, and Oils were strong.

English and Irish Coal.

Sir Auckland Geddes seems to take a delight in springing surprises upon the public. Last July he created a feeling that was akin to consternation by announcing that an increase of six shillings per ton in the price of coal would take immediate effect. He justified this step on the grounds that the output from the mines had decreased steadily, and that, as a result, the industry was being conducted at a heavy loss to the Government. His assertion, and the figures that he produced in support of it, were challenged by the miners, but he refused resolutely to retreat from his position or to make any concession. Only ten days ago he told the House of Commons that he could not "take the risk" of recommending the Government to reduce the price of coal. He admitted that there had been a marked improvement in the rate of production during the month of October, but he added that it would need hard and consistent work on the part of the miners to bring the year's output up to the total upon which the current prices were based. The country, therefore, resigned itself to the prospect of a severe winter during which fuel would be both scarce and dear. Yesterday, however, the President of the Board of Trade launched another—but far more pleasant—bombshell. He announced that, from Monday next, the prices for domestic and household coal would be fixed at ten shillings per ton below the present prices, and that the cost of coastwise bunker coal would be reduced to the same level as coal for industrial purposes. How has this welcome change been made possible? It is not due to any sudden increase in the output from the mines. The Government appears to have been impressed by the need for some temporary expedient which will reduce the cost of living, and, therefore, it has decided to recast the system upon which coal is controlled. The bulk of the profits which it makes on the export of coal will be used in future to subsidise the private consumer. That, in short, is the explanation. The present prices for export coal are abnormally high, and the strike in the American coalfields has made it certain that they will remain at the present level for a considerable time. Ireland stands to gain considerably by the change. The price not only of coal, but of virtually every article that we import, will be affected by the reductions in freight charges that are now made possible.

Sir Auckland Geddes's statement coincided with the first meeting of the Committee that has been appointed to inquire into the Irish coal industry. We are glad to observe, from the Chairman's statement, that the Committee places the widest possible interpretation upon its terms of reference, and that it intends to make a thorough examination of the possibilities of our native resources. Authoritative information on the point is greatly needed. Some people believe that, if our coal deposits were properly developed, this country could be independent of imported supplies; others hold that the Irish coal industry never will be a great national asset. The Commission, we hope, will be able to decide which school of opinion is in the right. Virtually, the only undisputed fact with which the inquiry starts is that the country does contain large coalfields. Except in respect of limited areas, however, little is known about the quality of the coal or the extent to which it can be worked. Exact information can only be obtained by adequate boring tests. Should these be carried out by the State or by private enterprise? The Secretary of the Irish Industrial Development Association, who gave evidence yesterday, holds strongly that the Government should undertake the work. We are inclined to agree with him. Coal is a national asset, a national need, and its exploitation should not be left to individuals. If the borings proved beyond the possibility of a doubt that our coal deposits were capable of rich development, Irishmen, we believe, would readily supply the necessary capital. They cannot be expected, however, to embark upon a venture that may end in financial disaster. A practical and thorough survey of the country's resources, therefore, should be one of the Commission's chief recommendations.

The primary object of the Committee is to investigate the conditions under which work is conducted at the existing mines. Questions of wages, hours, housing accommodation, and hours of labour will be reviewed in detail. We are glad to observe that the coal-owners have taken a very sensible and candid course. They have volunteered to give the representatives of the miners every facility to ascertain the profits that they derive from the undertakings. At a private session to-day all the necessary books and documents will be produced for inspection. This, we believe, will obviate one of the most prolific causes of trouble. Nearly all the unrest and disturbances that have occurred in the English coalfields have been caused by the secrecy which the owners observed in regard to their profits. It was not until Mr. Justice Sankey's Commission began its operations that the details were revealed, and then, in many cases, they had to be dragged from unwilling witnesses by severe cross-examination. At to-morrow's session the Labour representatives will be able to see, without difficulty exactly how matters stand, and, no doubt, their claims will be framed accordingly. The example of the Irish coal-owners is worthy of emulation by other employers. We have urged repeatedly that the only sure base upon which the fabric of industrial peace can stand must be composed of good-will and cordial co-operation. When both parties to an industrial dispute put all their cards on the table the prospects of agreement are vastly improved.

Briton and Bolshevik.

M. Litvinoff, the official representative of the Bolshevist "Government," arrived at Copenhagen yesterday. His mission in the Danish capital is to confer with a representative of the British Government with a view to the exchange of prisoners. The British representative, who has been in Copenhagen for some time, is Mr. James O'Grady, Labour member of Parliament for South Leeds. Although Mr. O'Grady's authority entitles him only to arrange an exchange of prisoners, there are many who believe that the meeting at Copenhagen may be the prelude to more important and far-reaching discussions—in fact, to peace negotiations with the Bolsheviks. Weight is given to this belief by the antecedents of M. Litvinoff. It is argued that the mere exchange of prisoners is not a matter which demands the presence at Copenhagen of one of the Bolshevist high priests. M. Litvinoff is one of the inner circle at Moscow. He is a person of considerable importance among the architects of a "new hell," and for that reason his visit to Copenhagen is highly suspicious. Messages from Denmark state that he is bringing concrete peace proposals from the Soviet Government. Mr. O'Grady has no power to enter into pourparlers of any kind; but there is no reason why he should not act as a courier and transmit Litvinoff's proposals to London. Opinion in Copenhagen seems to be almost unanimous in attaching great importance to the conference, and one thing, at any rate, is certain. If political capital can be made out of the conference, M. Litvinoff will make it. The Danes have refused to allow him to bring any Bolshevist literature or money into their country, and his journey from Dorpat has been made under the supervision of a British officer. Unless Mr. O'Grady is a very clever man, however, he may easily find himself a tool in the hands of the Bolshevist "ex-Ambassador." If he gives an inch, M. Litvinoff will undoubtedly take an ell. Therefore, it is essential that the conference be concluded as quickly as possible. The exchange of prisoners in itself is an object worthy of everybody's cordial support. We cannot leave our men—and women—to languish at the tender mercies of Trotsky and his gang. On the other hand, however, there can be no "peace" negotiations, however remote. "No truck with Bolshevism" has been accepted as a fundamental principle of British foreign policy. Any departure from this principle would constitute a base betrayal of the Russian people, and, however alluring the "terms" of Lenin may be, they cannot be considered for a moment. The dangers of Bolshevism were never greater than they are to-day. Germany is itching for an opportunity to conclude an alliance with Moscow. Such an alliance would simply transform Russia into a German protectorate, and a flood of Bolshevist propaganda would sweep across Europe from the Vistula to the Rhine. Mr. O'Grady's duty is to secure the release of those British subjects whose unhappy lot has fallen among the Bolshevists. If he fulfils that duty, every Briton will be grateful to him. He should beware of the wiles of his vis-à-vis at the green table in Copenhagen. M. Litvinoff is "out" for peace and a bloodless victory for Bolshevism.

Criminals.

Yet another of the world's popular beliefs has gone by the board. Lombroso's theory of the "criminal type" has failed to survive the extraordinarily minute researches of British criminologists. The late Dr. Charles Goring has refuted it as completely as Professor Einstein claims to have refuted our old friend Euclid. According to Lombroso, all criminals are marked by physical and mental stigmata, such as protruding jaws, flat noses, depressed skulls, and projecting ears; and for at least a generation we have regarded such features as a danger-signal. Twenty years ago, however, the English prison authorities began to make elaborate tests with the object of discovering whether a definite criminal type existed. The bulk of the work, which involved the accurate measurement of at least three thousand convicts, was carried out by Dr. Goring in conjunction with Professor Karl Pearson. The results have now been published, in summarised form, by the Commissioners of English Prisons. They prove conclusively that there is no "criminal type." "Criminality is not a morbid state, akin to physical disease, which can be diagnosed and established by pure observation." What these amazingly minute and patient records do prove is that the "criminal" man is, to a large extent, a "defective" man, physically and mentally. All English criminals, except those convicted of fraud and violence, are markedly below the general standard in stature and body-weight. This defectiveness is determined more by nature than by nurture, and, like other constitutional characteristics, it is subject to heredity. The tendency to be convicted and imprisoned for crime is inherited in much the same measure as other physical and mental qualities.

"Jazz" Dancing.

Dublin's good taste and sense of propriety are about to be tested in an interesting fashion. Yesterday the Recorder was asked to give a music and dancing licence in favour of a young man who proposes to introduce our city to the delights of "jazz" dancing. The "jazz" dance is not unknown here, but the new venture contemplates a regular "jazz" band, with two negro musicians. This was not Mr. Mandeville's first attempt to get a licence in Dublin; indeed, he must feel by this time medius delapsus in hostes. Dublin's notion of the "jazz," derived from the London newspapers, is that it is a noisy and vulgar business, and, being on the whole a Puritan people, we suspect something objectionably exotic in the negro accompaniment. It seems to be admitted that the banging of drums and the blowing of motor horns incite the negro musicians to various grimaces, and the question was solemnly argued yesterday whether such grimacing per se was an immoral act. The Recorder is a man of the world, and his decision, we think, was fair and sensible. He withheld the desired licence until the innovators should have proved to the satisfaction of the police and the Vigilance Association that "jazz" dancing to barbaric music was a healthy and harmless form of entertainment. We must wait and see, therefore, in the comfortable assurance that the scrutiny of the Recorder's two-headed Cerberus will be vigilant and unrelaxing. If the "jazz" music survives that test, it will have received a certificate of character that should be highly prized in the upper reaches of the Congo.

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.

MONDAY.

The Right Hon. Frank Brooke and Admiral Sir Reginald Tupper arrived at the Lodge to-day.

The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Belfast, Captain Church, R.N.; Mrs. Macpherson, Miss Pike, and Miss Wyndham Quin had the honour of being invited to dine with His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge this evening.

THE KING AND EX-SERVICE MEN.

At a meeting at the London Mansion House of city men, yesterday, to consider proposals relating to ex-Service men, a message was read from the King. His Majesty's Private Secretary wrote:—

"In assuring you of His Majesty's abiding interest in the welfare and future prosperity of ex-Service men, I am to express to you the King's hope that the efforts being made will be attended with the utmost success."

The Prime Minister wrote:—"The meeting will remind the nation of our overwhelming debt to the gallant men who led our victorious Forces in the field."

Sir Robert Borden said that there were still twenty thousand officers looking for work.

It is announced that Major Henry Barnes, Coalition Liberal member for Newcastle East, has ceased to be a supporter of the Coalition.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

The brothers Geddes bore the brunt of the question hour to-day in the House of Commons. The first 43 questions on the paper were addressed to one or other of them. Sir Auckland was severely cross-examined by Sir F. Hall as to the growth of American and Japanese trade competition, but refused to admit that there was any cause for alarm. "I am not shivering at all," he said, and proceeded to point out that, inasmuch as this country's production had for the last five years been devoted almost entirely to war purposes, it was not surprising that foreign imports had increased. His reply almost reached the dimensions of a speech, and provoked another supplementary question. But then the Speaker intervened. "This debate had better be adjourned," he said.

Three specific pieces of information were given by the President of the Board of Trade. The first was that he was satisfied that there had been a reduction in price in all the articles scheduled under the "Profiteering" Act; the second that there was no intention to restrict the price of goods exported from this country; and the third that, although coal for inland consumption was at present being sold at a loss, the Government, having regard to the profits made on the export trade, intended to reduce the price of inland coal on Monday next by ten shillings a ton. He warned intending purchasers, however, not to delay their purchases until next week if they wished to be sure of delivery.

The announcement caused a good deal of comment. It means that the consumers of coal, like the consumers of bread, are to be subsidised by the rest of the community, and it will doubtless be claimed as a victory by the Labour Party, who have been strongly pressing for a reduction.

Sir E. Geddes is going to make a statement shortly regarding the Government proposals for the control of railways, but, in the meantime, denies that the control of the railways is to be handed over to the trade unions, or that representatives of the unions are to be placed on the boards of the various railways in equal numerical strength to those of the shareholders.

Colonel Lowther asked "by private notice" whether the Government had any information as regards Germany's alleged Army of half a million men, and whether the existence of such a force would not constitute a breach of the Peace Treaty. Mr. Bonar Law replied that the figure mentioned was believed to be an exaggeration, but the Supreme Council in Paris was keeping a watchful eye upon the matter, in order that there should be no doubt of its being able to enforce the Treaty when ratified.

The second day of the report on the Electricity Supply Bill was, if anything, duller than ever, and only those members specially interested in the subject took the trouble to attend the debate. There are quite a number of amendments still to be disposed of, but in general they deal with few questions of principle. The Home Secretary had on the paper a proposal for placing railway and dock generating stations under the control of district boards, but, in view of the arrangement made with the railway companies, he considered it unnecessary, and withdrew it.

Major Barnes sought acceptance of an amendment to substitute compensation for "standard prices" in respect of any undertaking taken over, but Mr. Shortt declared that this would mean the recasting of a great part of the Bill, and the amendment on a division was defeated by 204 to 44.

A large meeting of members—between 50 and 60 in all—gathered in one of the Committee rooms to-day to hear an address from Lord Sydenham on the Government of India Bill, which is down for Committee stage in the Commons on Friday. Colonel Yate occupied the chair. Lord Sydenham described the Bill as the most important ever laid before the House of Commons, and expressed the opinion that not a quarter of a million out of the 315 million people in India knew what the Bill was, or the meaning of self-government. He pleaded that the measure needed longer time for consideration than the Government proposed to give to it. After some discussion it was resolved, on the motion of Sir E. Carson, to ask Mr. Bonar Law to receive at once a deputation in favour of delaying the further progress of the Bill, pending fuller examination of it and of the circumstances under which it is promoted. One strong argument in favour of delay (brought forward by Mr. Gershom Stewart) was that telegrams from the East are very much delayed, and that, therefore, present Indian views on the subject are not available. The following were nominated members of the deputation—Sir E. Carson, Sir A. Hunter, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Oman, Mr. A. Hopkinson, and Mr. J. F. Green.

Mr. Bonar Law has intimated to members associated with the colliery-owning interest that it is the intention of the Government, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, to introduce this week the Bill for restricting owners' profits to 1s. 2d. per ton. The Government, I understand, feel bound to carry out the pledge they have given on this subject. It will be for the House to say whether or not the pledge shall be carried into law. Many members have decided to abate no jot of their determination to oppose the Bill, and they claim to have secured the help of many representatives of great populous centres, on the ground that diminution of output must be caused, to the great danger of our industrial and economical position. A Coalition Liberal, one of the greatest friends of the Prime Minister, has, I hear, warned him that the Bill is likely to bring about a crisis far more serious to national interests than anything (for instance) arising out of the Irish question.

The Irish Education Bill brought in by the Chief Secretary to-day is not likely to be available for publication before Wednesday or Thursday. Its main proposal is to set up an Education Board on the lines of that of England in substitution of the present National and Intermediate bodies of Commissioners. Some form of rate in aid of the building of schools also is provided for, and it is said that some arrangement is to be made for the separate instruction of Protestant and Roman Catholic children. Sir E. Carson will on an early day inquire when the Government intend to take the second reading.

I am authoritatively informed that the Government have an offer for the continuance on a permanent basis of the arrangement which they came to with the dock and harbour authorities for the payment of rates on ships and goods during the war. The matter is now before the committee which represents the above authorities, and it is probable that ere long it will come under discussion at a conference between the committee and the Government departments concerned.

IRISH COAL INDUSTRY.

FIRST SITTING OF CHIEF SECRETARY'S COMMITTEE.

PRODUCTION IN IRELAND.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE COALFIELDS.

The first sitting of the Irish Coal Industry Committee, appointed by the Chief Secretary for the purpose of inquiring into the position of and conditions prevailing in the coal industry of Ireland, was held yesterday. The Chairman, Lord Justice O'Connor, presided, and the other members of the Committee present were:—Captain R. H. Prior Wandesforde, D.L.; Messrs. Michael Layden, J. J. Parkinson, Thos. Foran, William O'Brien, and Richard Gilmartin, with Mr. George W. Lawlor, Secretary, in attendance.

The terms of reference embraced—The wages and hours of work in the various grades of colliery workers, any inequalities between different grades of colliery workers as regards wages, hours of work, and other conditions, cost of production and distribution; selling prices and profits, social conditions, future organisation of the coal industry, mining royalties, and the effect of the proposals under these heads upon the development of the coal industry, and the economic life of the country.

THE CHAIRMAN.

The Chairman, explaining the genesis of the Committee, the nature and scope of its duties, and the manner in which it proposed to perform these duties, said that in consequence of disputes in Great Britain between mine owners, the Coal Industry Commission, presided over by Mr. Justice Sankey, was appointed under the Coal Industry Commission Act, 1919, for the purpose of inquiring into the position of and conditions prevailing in the coal industry. Under ordinary circumstances, inasmuch as the Irish coal mines were for administrative purposes classified as part of an English district (the Lancashire district, he thought) Ireland would have been included in the purview of that Act. But it was felt, both by mine owners and miners, that the conditions in Ireland differed so widely from those in Great Britain as to make it most inadvisable, as of course it was obviously highly inconvenient, that an inquiry into Irish coal conditions should be merged in an inquiry into British conditions conducted in London. Accordingly, representations were made on behalf of mine owners and miners that Ireland should be excluded from the inquiry, and Irish mines were not included in the Act, and this was assented to. It then became necessary to institute a separate Irish inquiry, and ultimately a Committee was appointed by the Chief Secretary. Having read the minute of appointment setting forth the powers and duties of the Committee, the Chairman said that the functions of the Committee were very wide—to inquire into the position of and conditions prevailing in the coal industry—and the Committee, while, of course, proposing to deal very fully with the question of labour conditions—wages, hours, housing, and so on—would not confine themselves to that, but intended to conduct a serious inquiry into the position, prospects, and possibilities of the coal industry as a whole. These were naturally matters of great importance to this country, and also matters upon which there was great need of accurate knowledge, for he knew of no subject of public concern on which such widely differing opinions were held. On the one hand they had people who thought the proper exploitation of coal would enable Ireland to take her place among the industrial nations of the earth; on the other hand they had people who saw that Irish coal was a negligible quantity. Both of these schools of thought could not be right. It would be their business to find out the truth of the matter, and if they succeeded the ascertainment of the facts in itself would be, he trusted, deemed to be of some public utility. As he had already indicated their functions would also extend to the relations between the mine owners and the miners and the subject of nationalisation of the minerals and of the mines. In this connection he might say that the mine owners had met the reasonable request of the miners very fairly by agreeing at a private session, to be held to-morrow (Wednesday), to go into the question of profits, and to help them by the production of accounts and so on. It was also their duty to make recommendations. Whatever the recommendations might be one thing was certain, he thought he might say on behalf of all his colleagues as well as himself, that they would be actuated by a desire to forward the public interests and to help the coal industry by every legitimate means.

EXPERT EVIDENCE.

Mr. E. St. John Lyburn, A.R.C.Sc.I. (Mining), F.G.S., Economic Geologist to the Department of Agriculture, and adviser on mining matters to the Irish Land Commission, gave evidence, and in answer to the Chairman, he said that he was appointed in 1901 by the Department of Agriculture to make a flying survey of the mineral deposits in this country, and to report what propositions were worthy of attention.

Showing the productive coal areas of Ireland on a map, Mr. Lyburn said that he proposed to adopt the unusual method of attempting to demonstrate how the estimate of the coal resources was arrived at. Actual reserves of coal were based on the knowledge of the actual thickness and extent of seams; probable reserves were reserves of which an approximate estimate only could be arrived at; and possible reserves included cases in which an estimate in figures could not be given. Ireland had an actual reserve of 180,506,000 tons of coal, of which it was said, in connection with the Leinster coalfield, that the thickness, taken at about 20 inches, might not prevail throughout the district. This reserve was made up of 171,800,000 tons of anthracite, Leinster and Tipperary coalfields; 8,696,000 tons semi-bituminous, Connaught coalfield. Ireland imported roughly 4½ million tons of coal per annum. Assuming that her output could be increased 500,000 tons per year at least, it would mean a long life. The reserves of Ireland were small in comparison with those of Great Britain. In normal times the latter produced approximately 1,000,000 tons per working day, or 275,000,000 per annum. He thought that the Tyrone coalfield and portion of North-East Ulster, when properly and systematically prospected, might help to swell the figures for Ireland. The seams of coal were thin in this country as compared with those across the water. He said this to show the competition Ireland had to meet. In addition, the large amount of capital expended on the other side in the coal mining business had no parallel, and that adversely affected the trade. These considerations should be kept in mind. There had been a decreasing output of coal in Ireland for many years, due in part to the exhaustion of the more easily worked upper seams, and in part to cheap freights for seaborne coal. The output in 1850 was about 150,000 tons, and in 1918 it was 92,000 tons.

TRANSPORT FACILITIES.

Mr. Lyburn continued to say that until very recently Irish collieries had been very seriously handicapped by want of transport facilities, and even with improved transport now available, or to be made available, they had many difficulties to surmount. The proprietors, in his opinion, were doing a great deal to remedy the matter in installing modern appliances, but even in that respect progress had been impeded by the inability to obtain deliveries of necessary machinery during the period of hostilities. Ireland was now really developing, and machinery was much dearer now. Great Britain had thus an advantage, inasmuch as she was so much further developed. The competition from peat had to be reckoned, more especially in the country districts, where some of their collieries were situated. He estimated some time ago that probably six to seven million tons of peat were used annually in this country. In fact, it might be stated that a number of the peasantry were really proprietors of their own fuel deposits.

The witness then gave particulars as to the various coalfields, dealing principally with the scarcity of labour and the want of housing accommodation. There were two types of royalties in Ireland—royalty of so much per ton raised and sold with a minimum dead rent, which was about 6d. per ton, and in one case 1s., and a royalty of so much on the sales of the output, with a minimum dead rent. Again, there was a case where dead rent only was paid, and no royalty. There were over 8,000 estates in Ireland in which the mineral rights were vested in the Irish Land Commission. He concurred with the view of the Geological Sub-Committee in February, 1917, that it was important for the future industrial development of the country that powers to put down bore holes should be confined to some department of the State. If the prospecting were successful the State could be recouped by a charge upon the royalties over a term of years. They had no properly-equipped Department of Mines in this country. The time was at hand when more practical work should be undertaken.

OTHER POSSIBILITIES.

Witness further explained that there were other possibilities connected with the Leinster coalfield besides the ordinary uses of coal. In this region they would get calcium nitrate, and in view of the cost of nitrate freights from Chili he thought that something should be done to investigate the values of these natural nitrates. The supply of labour for the mines was a necessary thing, but they would get no miners to put up with the present housing accommodation. There were 700 houses urgently required for the Leinster coalfield at an estimated cost of £400 per house, and 200 houses were required at Arigna. He emphasised the necessity of making Lough [...] Canal suitable for carrying coal. In the [...]naught coalfields 200 more houses were wanted, and 50 more at Ballycastle. Oil shales might be produced in the Tyrone coalfield. Further borings might be carried out, and no difficulties placed in the way of prospectors by way of granting leases. Labour and Capital, he suggested, should meet each other and co-operate towards the development of the coal industry in Ireland.

Replying to Mr. O'Brien, witness said that he was afraid that there were no unknown coal areas now in Ireland.

The witness, in reply to Mr. Foran, said that the amount accruing from royalties out of all Ireland in respect of coal was close on £5,000 per annum.

Answering the Chairman, the witness said that the whole question facing Irish coal was the cost of production. There were elements in that connection greater in Ireland than elsewhere, and that was due to the relative thinness of the seam. The output would not be so great in a thin as in a thick seam. He thought that there was a prospect for the anthracite coal, but everybody concerned would have to combine in the interests of [...] and that was not an easy matter.

In other words, you want the co-operation of the mine-owner, who is the capitalist, and the co-operation of the miner upon that? I would also bring in the co-operation of the State to help those men who are working in the [...] so that everything should be done, especially in regard to housing. The production of 500,000 tons of coal per annum in Ireland means the employment of 3,500 men.

Mr. H. B. Wright, of the Geological Survey Department, gave evidence on the same lines.

Mr. Hallissy, also of the Geological Survey Department, dealt with the various deposits of the Leinster coalfields, and estimated the reserves at 80,000,000 tons.

CITY ELECTRICAL ENGINEER'S EVIDENCE.

Mr. P. J. Kettle, City Electrical Engineer, Dublin, said that he had tested Irish coal for impurities, and it was no worse than any other coal. Tyrone coal was apparently well able to hold its own in calorific value with the best British coals. The Tyrone coalfields formed one of the most promising propositions in Ireland.

In the course of further evidence, Mr. Kettle said that the Government ran Great Britain and Ireland in the interests of the majority. Great Britain wanted markets, and not competitors, and consequently, he said, no help or encouragement was given to the development of Irish coalfields. He had not much belief that any real assistance would be given by the Government to the development of Irish coalfields.

The Chairman informed the witness that the experts agreed that they could not recommend exploration except in the region from Lough Neagh to Ayrshire, running under the North Channel. He asked the witness if it was not the fact that the main difficulty of raising Irish coal was to do it economically and in competition.

The witness replied that he had no experience of actual mine-working. The transport question was an important factor, and had been a disgrace. The State was responsible for proper transport facilities. Lack of capital had been a handicap to the development of Irish coal.

The Chairman asked the witness what was his remedy.

Mr. Kettle said that the State should lend the money necessary. He did not say that they should give the money. They should also give all the technical assistance, and should bore throughout the country.

Mr. E. J. Riordan, Secretary of the Irish Industrial Development Association (Incorporated), gave particulars as to the output of coal in Ireland, which showed that the output in 1918 was 56,749 tons less than in the year 1854. He gave some of his reasons for the decline, and said that the railway connections that had now been provided to three of the Irish collieries should prove of assistance in enabling them to extend the area in which there was a profitable market for their coal. It was of vital national importance that no effort should be spared to ascertain definitely the true extent and workability of the coal deposits of this country. This could only be accomplished by carrying out adequate boring tests wherever there was satisfactory evidence of the existence of coal deposits. The chief immediate advantage from opening up and developing Irish coal deposits was that the coal obtained therefrom should be available for use within a reasonable radius of the mines at a lower cost than sea-borne coal. The markets nearest to the coal mines were the best worth catering for at present, and until such time as for larger supplies are obtainable from Irish collieries. Road haulage was a factor which might be usefully developed in this connection. There were responsible capitalists in this country who were prepared to purchase and develop Irish coal mines provided they were satisfied that coal existed in sufficient quantity to justify them in embarking upon such a venture.

Mr. John Hearne, J.P., Waterford, dealt with the use of culm for lime-burning. He said that he had produced a ton of lime with 10 cwt. of Castlecomer culm, which differed very little from Welsh culm. There was no reason why Welsh culm should be brought into the country at all.

Replying to Mr. Foran, the witness said that Welsh culm delivered in Waterford cost 45s. a ton, and Castlecomer culm 30s. a ton.

Mr. G. Marshall Harriss, General Manager of the Dublin United Tramways Company, gave evidence of the use of coal in relation to producing electricity. State aid would be necessary to develop Irish mines before they could compete with imported coal. Such Irish coal as he had had did not equal imported coal for steam raising. Mr. Harriss placed the consumption of the 4½ million tons of imported coal yearly at 66 per cent. for domestic purposes, 22 per cent. for power purposes, and 12 per cent. for the railways. In addition, six millions tons of peat was used a year.

Further evidence having been heard, the inquiry was adjourned until to-day.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR AND BROTHERHOOD.

The American Circle of the Lyceum Club, London, gave a dinner to the American Ambassador and Mrs. Davis at the Club yesterday evening. Mrs. Florence Allen Dugas, President of the Circle, was in the chair. Among the guests were Lord Desborough, Admiral Knapp, of the United States Navy; Admiral Sir P[...] Scott, and Mr. Stanley Hollis, American Consul-General.

The American Ambassador said that one of the best gifts the Pilgrim Fathers gave America was when they discovered the edible value of turkey, cranberry sauce, and mince pies, even though it resulted in the death of so many of the colonists. (Laughter.) This was a thanksgiving dinner, and they should most of all give thanks at this season for the increased understanding and fellowship between the young world and the old world. Never before in the world's history was there more need of the lesson, "all men are brothers," and never before had the United States and Great Britain so understood its value. If he had had any doubt on the question he would have been convinced by the magnificent reception which that gallant young man, so tactful, so magnetic, so fired with high and lofty virtues, the Prince of Wales, had received in the United States.

Canon Carnegie, speaking of the welcome received on his recent visit to America, said there lay behind it an instinctive sense of kinship—the call of the blood. The Irish question was constantly coming up there, and the Irish difficulty was causing a great deal of friction between the two countries. He tried to explain that there were difficulties about getting it out of the way. One felt that it would be an enormous advantage if the Irish-American could be changed from our critics and antagonists into our sympathisers. He did not think that it was outside the possibilities of statesmanship to solve the Irish question.

IRISH EDUCATION BILL.

INTRODUCED BY THE CHIEF SECRETARY.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Macpherson presented the Education (Ireland) Bill, which was read a first time.

CAPTAIN ROSS SMITH.

The Air Ministry announces that a message received from Cairo states that Captain Ross Smith arrived at Cairo on November [...] and left on the following day. The Air Ministry learns unofficially that Captain Smith left for Damascus.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

AGRICULTURE AND THE 48 HOURS BILL.

The Labour Correspondent of The Times writes:—Yesterday's "conference," if it can be so-called, was abortive. Sir Thomas Munro, Chairman of the Joint Committee, accompanied by Sir Allen Smith, Chairman of the employers' side, and Mr. A. Henderson, M.P., Chairman of the work people's side, met representatives of the following bodies:—

Employers.—Royal Agricultural Society of England, National Farmers' Union, Central and Associated Chambers of Agriculture, Welsh Agricultural Council, Scottish Chamber of Agriculture, Highland Agricultural Society, National Farmers' Union of Scotland, Irish Farmers' Union, and the Ulster Farmers' Union.

Workers.—National Agricultural Labourers' and Rural Workers' Union, Workers' Union, Scottish Farm Servants' Union, National Amalgamated Union of Labour, Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, Irish Land and Labour Association, and British Gardeners' Association.

The difficulty which had led to the summoning of the parties to Montague House was briefly explained to the two groups sitting jointly. It at once became plain that objection was taken to the composition of the employers' side of the conference. The Agricultural and other labourers' unions took exception to the President and representatives of the Royal Agricultural Society and other bodies, which cater, not only for farmers, but for landowners. The latter class, they argued, were not employers, and had no status in the settlement of the agricultural hours of labour. The Farmers' Union representatives, it is understood, were inclined to take the same view. Thus the meeting rapidly resolved itself into a discussion, not on the merits of the question of the 48-hour week for agriculture, but on the question whether landowners should have a voice in the settlement of such issues, and the farmers' representatives, whose union is steadily gaining in numbers and independence, took the side of the workers' unions on that question, though still firmly opposed to them on the original point of dispute. After a short joint meeting the two groups sat separately, in order to give the "employers'" side an opportunity of composing its own internal differences. This, it is believed, the various bodies failed to do, and, as a result, the project of a National Industrial Council is no nearer realisation than it was months ago. It is interesting to note that the Royal Agricultural Society and other mixed bodies of farmers and landowners, whose participation in the Conference led to its failure, have regularly taken part in the work of the Agricultural Wages Board under the Corn Production Act, and that nobody has hitherto publicly challenged their right to intervene in that way in questions of agricultural hours and wages.

THE COAL PUZZLE.

The Times devotes a leading article to the Government's announcement of a reduction of 10s. a ton in the price of coal for "domestic and household" consumption. Apparently the price of coal supplied for industrial purposes at home, it states, is actually to be more than the present rate of 52s. per ton, unless the Government mean, by limiting export, to increase the supply, and keep the price down. Sir A. Geddes does not say definitely which of these two alternatives he contemplates. That is not his way. He throws out dark hints. "The average price" of coal sold for home consumption is "below the average cost of production," and this is "very unsatisfactory," and, for the coal industry, "very dangerous." So, though the price of coal for domestic and household use is to be reduced by 10s. a ton next week, industrial coal must be sold as "soon as possible on an economic basis." What blessed phrases are these, "on an economic basis" and "as soon as possible!" How they will contribute to the peace of mind of the manufacturer who is striving to re-establish his business on a stable footing! But that, serious as it is, is not the worst feature of this remarkable announcement. What the Government have determined to do appears to be this: They are bribing the private consumer of coal at the expense of the industry of the country—a policy evidently determined upon with reckless haste, and with complete disregard for the ultimate welfare of the individual who may be induced to swallow the bribe without a thought of what the ultimate reckoning must be. Dearer coal for industry must mean paralysis of development. Unemployment will increase, uncertainty will check production, and the recoil will visit itself upon the millions of individuals whose livelihood depends upon the growing prosperity of industry. For this bribe of 10s. off the cost of coal will be high, and that high price will inevitably be paid by the great majority of the population.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times says—Within a few minutes of Sir A. Geddes's announcement of a reduction in coal prices the Lobby was putting a hundred different interpretations on it. It was clear that not a single member fully understood the new proposals of the Government, and, as no Minister or official was ready with a simple explanation, the confusion grew worse as the night wore on. The miners could not make head or tail of the statement. The much larger body of members with industrial and commercial interests found themselves equally at a loss. In the first place, it was impossible to reconcile any relief, however limited, with the tone of Sir A. Geddes's previous declarations. A section of the Government's critics saw in the concession of 10s. a ton to the householder nothing but a move in the anti-nationalisation game.

LORD FISHER'S "RECORDS."

A further contribution from Lord Fisher's "Records" appears in The Times to-day. He begins by telling how, as Controller of the Navy, when Mr. Gladstone was Prime Minister, he succeeded in carrying through a programme of shipbuilding that was vitally and urgently necessary, in spite of Mr. Gladstone's opposition. "We got the ships, and Mr. Gladstone went," he adds. "When are we going to have the great Army and Navy Co-operative Society which I set forth to King Edward in 1903—that the Army should be a reserve for the Navy?" he asks. When shall we be an amphibious nation? This last war has made us into a conscript nation.

In a chapter entitled, "How the great war was carried on," he says:—"Six weeks after I left the Admiralty, on May 22, 1915—that deplorable day, the particulars of which I am not at present at liberty to mention—I received most cordial letters from both Mr. Asquith and Mr. Balfour welcoming me to fill a post of great magnitude. I was invited by Mr. Balfour to preside over an assemblage of the most eminent men of science for war purposes. The chief point was the German submarine menace; also we had to consider inventions as well as scientific research. The chief object of this magnificent scientific organisation being to counter the German submarine menace, we naturally asked for a submarine to experiment with. The answer was that 'one could not be spared.' We asked to be furnished with all the details of the destruction of German submarines that had already taken place, which, of course, lay at the root of further investigation. This was denied us! A 'submarine detector' was developed under the auspices of the Central Committee by May, 1916. A year was allowed to elapse before it was taken up, and even then its progress was cancelled, because nothing more than a laboratory experiment, with a competing invention, came to the notice of the 'limpets.' The scientific members of our Association had conceived, and practically demonstrated, a most astoundingly simple method of discovering the passage of German submarines. It was termed 'the loop detection' scheme. It was turned down; and then, two years afterwards, was violently taken up with astoundingly successful results. I think I have said enough; and really, after all, what is the good of raking up the past?

"I have had two pieces of advice given to me, referring to the trials I have experienced. One was—'When sinners entice thee, consent thou not! But take the name and address for future reference.' And the other was—'Fear less—hope more; eat less—chew more; whine less—breathe more (deep breathing); talk less—say more; hate less—love more; and all good things are yours.'"

A Montreal telegram of Sunday says—The main buildings of Laval University, containing the Medical Department, were destroyed by fire yesterday evening. The damage is estimated at half a million. It is believed that the fire was caused by a lighted cigarette having been mistakenly thrown during the concert.

GERMANY AND THE TREATY.

SUPREME COUNCIL'S SHARP NOTE.

CLEAR STATEMENT DEMANDED.

The Press Association's Paris Correspondent writing on Monday says:—The American delegates to the Peace Conference, having received no instructions to the contrary, propose to sign the Bulgarian Peace Treaty unless there are fresh developments before Tuesday next.

At this morning's meeting of the Supreme Council, General Berthelot read a Note from the Acting Head of the German Delegation of to-day's date, saying that Herr von Simon had been obliged to return to Berlin to consult his Government regarding the proposed arrangement by the Allies for the administration of the areas of occupation. The Note also protested against the establishment of any connection between the question of repatriation of German prisoners of war and that of the ratification of the Treaty. The draft of the reply which General Berthelot proposed to send to the above communication was read and agreed to.

Finally, General Berthelot read a short Note which he had just received from Baron von Lersner regarding the adjournment of the negotiations between the German expert, who had arrived in Paris to settle arrangements connected with the administration of the areas of occupation, and the Allied Commissions, on the ground that the former had all returned to Berlin with Herr von Simon. General Berthelot observed that this change in the attitude of the Germans was probably due to events in the United States, and in particular to the resolution introduced in the Senate by Senator Lodge in favour of an unconditional peace between the United States and Germany. The Germans were, no doubt, reckoning upon a disagreement among the Allies, and were probably also influenced by the Allies' unwillingness to forego their demands for the surrender of Germans who had been guilty of breaches of the laws of war. In view of this last Note, a paragraph was added to the draft reply, on the proposal of Sir Eyre Crowe, demanding a clear statement of the intentions of the German Government with regard to the ratification, and it was decided to publish these documents in the evening papers to-morrow.

THE EX-KAISER'S TRIAL.

NO DELAY IN THE PREPARATIONS.

The Press Association says.—The Allied and Associated Governments have not been inactive in the matter of the ex-Kaiser's trial. A large amount of most valuable evidence has, in fact, been collected in support of an indictment which will be found when the time comes of a very wide and far-reaching character. This is only part of the careful preparation which is being made for a step to which the Allied Governments are as definitely committed as any International Covenants can make them. Article 227 of the Treaty of Peace declares that "The Allied and Associated Powers publicly arraign Wilhelm the Second of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, on a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties." Two points are to be observed in reference to this statement. In the first place, it is not a statement concerning the future. The ex-Kaiser stands already publicly arraigned. In the second place, the ex-Kaiser is arraigned for whatever offence he has committed, either against the sanctity of treaties or against international morality, words which include purposely, it may be assumed, a very wide range of charges. The Article then proceeds to declare that a special tribunal will be constituted to try the accused, and that it will be the duty of the tribunal to fix the punishment which it considers should be imposed. The concluding paragraph of the Article is as follows:—"The Allied and Associated Powers will address a request to the Government of the Netherlands for the surrender to them of the ex-Emperor, in order that he may be put on trial." Here it will be noted the tense is in the future. Political memories are proverbially short, but it is not many weeks since questions were asked in the House of Commons as to the time at which this request to the Government of the Netherlands would be made. The answer was, as is indeed obvious, that the request would be made after the ratification of the Treaty. That moment has not yet arrived, and, therefore, it is idle and misleading to speak or write as if there had been already some delay in the presentation of the request. There has been no delay.

PERMIT FOR CHARITABLE COLLECTIONS.

The annual collection in aid of the Nenagh Branch of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, doing such excellent work in the town, relieving the deserving poor and providing hot luncheons daily for a considerable number of needy school children, was arranged to be held in Nenagh at the church gates on Sunday, and was taken up at the 8 and 10 o'clock Masses. When, however, it became known at 12 o'clock Mass that a permit had been applied for to enable the collection to be made, the people refused either to act as collectors or subscribe.

At 12 o'clock Mass, the Very Rev. Canon McMahon, P.P., V.G., ascended the pulpit, and explained that when the collection was announced he did not think a permit would be needed, considering that it was for a purely charitable purpose. On the previous evening, while he was engaged hearing confessions, a police sergeant called on him, and informed him that it would be necessary to apply for a permit to hold the collection, and at the moment he decided to write for one. He was responsible for asking for the permit. The result was, he concluded, that no collection was held at the last Mass, but he felt sure that would not prevent the people of the parish from sending in their subscriptions to enable the good work of the Society to continue.

The incident was the chief topic of conversation with the congregation coming from church, some remarking that the people would soon be required to seek for a permit to attend Mass.

EXCITING INCIDENTS IN FERMOY.

Yesterday morning, at about one o'clock, several shots were heard in the direction of the New Barracks, Fermoy, and flash lights were thrown over the place. Previous to the shots a bugle alarm was sounded. It is stated that the sentry stationed near the cemetery was attacked at about the hour mentioned, and that the attackers were driven off. Last night a number of soldiers roamed through the streets, and at about seven o'clock they commenced, it is stated, to break the plate-glass windows in the shops of Messrs. J. Lombard and J. J. Barber, Artillery quay, and of Messrs. James Collins, James J. Bourke, and Grady, Bank street, causing damage of about £200. The police and military were immediately informed, and strong pickets were sent out. The officers ordered the men of the Buffs Regiment to barracks. Considerable excitement prevailed.

THE GOOLD'S CROSS SHOOTING INCIDENT.

Since the incident at Goold's Cross Railway Station on the arrival of the night mail train on Friday, when two men, who were challenged by the police, but disappeared into the darkness and were fired at, the military and police have shown extraordinary activity in Dundrum and other districts north of Tipperary. Motor lorries and an armoured car have been met with on the roads in all directions, and it is reported that several houses were searched.

FARMERS AND THE 48 HOURS BILL.

FATE OF INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL.

A representative conference of delegates from all the organisations of farmers and agricultural unions in Great Britain and Ireland took place at the Ministry of Labour, London, yesterday morning, to consider the difficulty which has arisen over the exclusion of agriculture from the Government's 48-Hours Bill. The trade union side of the Provisional Joint Committee of the Industrial Conference has raised strong objections to the exclusion of agricultural and other workers, and this, so far, has prevented the setting up of a permanent Industrial Council. The object of yesterday's conference was to determine whether the parties actually concerned desired to be included in the bill or otherwise. The conference was attended by Sir Thomas Munro, Chairman of the Joint Committee; Sir Allan Smith, representing the employers' side of the Industrial Conference Committee, and Mr. Arthur Henderson, M.P., representing the trade union side. The situation was explained to the agricultural delegates, who conferred separately on the proposals. After three hours' discussion the conference adjourned for a fortnight, no decision being reached.

It is understood that while the Farmers' Associations were practically unanimous in opposing the inclusion of the industry in the bill, the trade unions strongly pressed for its inclusion, and supported the attitude of the trade union side of the Provisional Joint Committee. It is probable that a compromise may be reached.

FIGHTING IN RUSSIA.

GENERAL WRANGEL'S ADVANCE.

BOLSHEVIK GAINS IN THE SOUTH.

The War Office issues the following announcement:—Up to the time of the last reports reaching the War Office, which gave the situation up to 8 p.m. on November 22nd, there had been little change on the front of the North-West Army. The Bolsheviks delivered heavy attacks against the village of Nezy, on the Pluissa, south of Narva, and succeeded at one time in gaining possession of the village, but were afterwards driven out by a counter-attack. The Bolsheviks also attacked the Esthonian front on the Luga River, twelve miles north of Narva, at a point where the line was held by In-Germanland volunteers, and drove the latter back from the river line, some little distance. The Russian line ran up the west bank of the Narova, with bridge-heads on the opposite side, to a point twenty miles north of Lake Peipus; thence to the Pluissa at Nezy, thence eastwards of Narva, and along the Luga River, as before.

SOUTH RUSSIA.

The War Office announces that the following statement gives the resumé of events on General Denikin's front up to the evening of November 21st:—In the sector held by the Caucasus Army, the Bolsheviks delivered an unsuccessful attack on the 19th, on a thirty-five-mile front, from the Volga to the Don. They were everywhere repulsed. General Wrangel then ordered an advance on both banks of the Volga, and reached the line Rakhinka, east of the Volga, north of the Dubovka, Joznoe, Popov, 830 prisoners, 30 machine guns, and the whole of the transport of the Bolshevik force were captured to the east of the river. The figures of those taken on the west bank have not yet been reported. The advance was continuing successfully at the time of the despatch of the report. On the front of the Don Army, the Bolsheviks have gained ground south-west of Novo Khopersk, and have also occupied Kostornoe, west of Voronej, but their attacks against Talvaya, on the Baloshov-Liske railway have been repulsed. Against the Volunteer Army, the Bolsheviks are continuing their advance. They occupied Kursk on the 16th, and on the 25th they occupied Ryarvo Junction, forty miles to the south-east, and have also taken Rilsk, sixty miles west of Kursk and Baakmach, an important junction, where the Gomel-Poltava and the Kursk-Kieff railways cross. North-west of Kieff, the peasants have successfully risen in the rear of the Bolshevik Army. The advance against Petliwia continues. The Volunteers have now occupied Kazatin Junction, forty miles south of Jitomil. Galician troops, to the number of 15,000, have come over to Denikin's side.

BERMONT'S TROOPS IN CONFUSION.

Colonel Bermont's troops are in a state of greatest confusion, according to a Riga telegram to the Lettish Press Bureau at Copenhagen. They have left the railway bridges intact in their retreat, and the stations have been taken, with the rolling-stock and war material intact. Continuing their advance on the Mitau-Shavli road, the Letts have taken Berstein, Klein, Schwiten, Grosschwiten, and Scheimal, on the Lithuanian frontier. A large number of volunteers of other nationalities are taking part in the defence of Libau.

MR. O'GRADY'S MISSION.

M. LITVINOFF AT COPENHAGEN.

Telegraphing on Monday, the Press Association's Copenhagen Correspondent says—M. Litvinoff, Delegate of Soviet Russia, who is to confer with Mr. O'Grady here, arrived here to-day on board the steamer Princess Margaret. This vessel seems to have been placed at his disposal for the voyage by the British Admiralty. Litvinoff may live on board her in the harbour for a day or two until he has made other arrangements for his accommodation. It is asserted in the local Press that the Russians here have tried to intimidate hotel proprietors who were willing to receive the Soviet Delegation. Sir Victor Warrender, representing the British authorities, has accompanied M. Litvinoff from Dorpat to Copenhagen, and will take him back to the Bolshevist front when the negotiations for the exchange of prisoners are ended. Two lady secretaries are with M. Litvinoff. The three British prisoners who came out of Russia with M. Litvinoff—Privates Davidson and C. Pickard, both of the 6th Battalion Yorkshire Regiment, and A. Richards, of the 13th Battalion, are presumably also on board the Princess Margaret, which is waiting outside in the roads for the present rough weather to moderate before attempting to enter the harbour. It is understood that they have been released for reasons of health, and will continue their journey to England.

POSITION AT CAIRO.

LORD ALLENBY'S ACTION.

Reuter's Cairo Correspondent, telegraphing on Wednesday last, says:—It is reported that Wahba Pasha, who was Minister of Finance in the late Ministry of Mahomed Said Pasha, has accepted the Premiership. The day passed off very quietly. It is understood that the Sultan has accepted the Cabinet's resignation.

Lord Allenby summoned four leaders of the Local Committee representing the Zaghlul Delegation, to wait upon him at the Presidency yesterday. Of these four, Mahmud Pasha, President; Ibrahim Pasha, Vice-President, and Abdel Bey Fahmy, Secretary, attended, while Fathallah Pasha Barakat, the remaining leader, did not come, being absent from Cairo. Lord Allenby informed them that it was his duty to maintain order, and that he held them largely responsible for the recent disorders. He had given the Egyptians months in which to settle down, and he could not tolerate repetitions of the disorders. He had, therefore, called them to the Presidency to warn them. He ordered the President and the Vice-President to leave, and remain in their provincial houses, but said that he would allow Fahmy Bey to stop in Cairo, provided that he kept quiet.

Telegraphing on Monday, the Correspondent says:—Mahmud Pasha Suliman, President, and Ibrahim Pasha Said, Vice-President of the Local Committee, having failed to obey Lord Allenby's orders to leave Cairo, were arrested at 11.30 this morning, and lodged in Kasr el Nil Barracks.

LORD MILNER'S MISSION.

Lord Crewe has given notice of his intention to ask the Foreign Secretary a question, by private notice, at the opening of the House of Lords to-day, concerning the position of affairs in Egypt, and the despatch of Lord Milner's Mission, and that Lord Curzon is expected to make an important pronouncement on the subject.

QUEEN'S COUNTY LAND DISPUTE.

TWENTY-SEVEN FARMERS CHARGED.

At a Crimes Act Court in Mountrath, on Saturday, before Major Thackeray, R.M., and Mr. M. Hornibrook, R.M., 27 men of the farming class, from Ballaghmore district, were charged with unlawful assembly, and with an attempt to intimidate Mr. Michael O'Meara, of Toomevara.

From the evidence it appeared that some trouble arose in the district owing to Mr. John Delany, J.P., Ballyduff, disposing of his farm of 490 acres privately to Mr. Michael O'Meara; and on the 2nd November, when Mr. O'Meara and his cousin, Mr. Joseph Donovan, were returning with Mr. Delany, in the latter's motor car from Mass at Borris-in-Ossory, a crowd of between forty and fifty persons, who were concealed in the laurels at the entrance gate at Ballyduff, rushed out, held up the motor, smashed the wind-screen and lamps, cut the tyres, pulled Mr. O'Meara out of the car, and compelled him, while hatless, and Mr. Donovan, to march before the crowd a distance of seven miles into Roscrea. Sergeant Ryan, Borris-in-Ossory, overtook them in Castle street, Roscrea, and, when he remonstrated with them, they said, "Here he is for you. Take him home to Toomevara. We don't want him in Ballyduff." Further evidence having been given, Mr. Houlihan, solicitor, stated that the matters in dispute had been amicably settled.

Major Thackeray said that, owing to the way the case had been met, the defendants would be only bound to the peace in their own recognisances of £10 each.

THE HOUSE BUILDING SUBSIDY.

The bill to legalise payment of the house building subsidy, announced by Dr. Addison in the House of Commons on Friday, will be introduced in the course of the next few days.

IRISH BANKING CRISIS.

HIBERNIAN BANK AND RECOGNITION.

STRIKE NOTICES SERVED ON NINE BANKS.

The Directors of the Hibernian Bank desire to make the following statement:—

24th November, 1919.

Mr. Denroche, the Organising Secretary of the Association, in his letter of 23rd inst. published in the Press to-day, states that, beyond a bare acknowledgment, his letter of 12th September "remains unanswered save by the Directors of the Hibernian Bank, who have refused the appeal." As the Directors consider that this is not a fair or accurate statement as regards the attitude of the Hibernian Bank in the matter, they think it right to publish in full the following letter which they sent to Mr. Denroche on 14th November:—

"The Hibernian Bank, Ltd.,
Head Office, College Green, Dublin.

"Dear Sir,—Your letter of 30th ulto. was duly received, and was held over owing to the absence of some of the Directors (including the General Manager). The Directors were prepared to give full and fair consideration to the proposal that the Association be recognised, and they accordingly asked the Association to furnish a clear statement defining recognition, etc. The Directors have considered the statement submitted in your letter of 30th ult. As, in their opinion, recognition on the lines set forth in that letter would be prejudicial to the efficient control of the bank's business, might in some respects prove embarrassing to the bank's customers, and would practically amount to an abdication by the Board of their proper functions in respect of the internal management of the bank, they regret they are unable to assent to the proposal.—Yours faithfully, (Signed). "J. M. Greer, Secretary.

"C. H. Denroche, Esq., LL.B., Organising Secretary, Irish Bank Officials' Association."

THE STRIKE NOTICES.

It is understood that, in pursuance of the decision of the Irish Bank Officials' Association at their meeting on Sunday in the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, notices were served yesterday on the directorates of the nine Irish banks intimating that on the 31st December next all bank officials who are members of the Association will cease work in every bank which has failed in the meantime to grant recognition of the Association; and that, in the event of any bank directorate taking advantage of this notice to dismiss individuals or introduce outside labour prior to the date fixed, the Executive Committee holds itself free to order a cessation of work at an earlier date.

On inquiry among members of the Bank Officials' Association last evening it was ascertained that there had been no fresh development in the situation during the day, and that the next move was expected to be made by the directorates.

The directorates of the leading Irish banks had no statement to make public last evening, but it was intimated that some statement might be anticipated for to-day or to-morrow.

DUBLIN HOUSING SCHEMES.

APPLICATION FOR A £1,000,000 LOAN.

IRISH BANKS DECLINE TO MAKE AN ADVANCE.

Alderman Thomas Kelly, Chairman of the Dublin Corporation Housing Committee, sends to us for publication correspondence that has passed between the Corporation and the Irish banks in reference to a proposed loan of a million pounds for the carrying out of housing schemes in the city.

On November 12th the following letter was sent to the managers of the various banks by the Lord Mayor and the Town Clerk:—

The Town Clerk's Office,
City Hall, Dublin,
12th November, 1919.

Dear Sir,—Acting upon a suggestion made at a special meeting of the Municipal Council, held on the 27th ultimo, that we should jointly write a letter to the managers of all the banks having an office in Dublin to request that they would consider jointly with one another the question of pooling one million pounds, and advancing same to the Corporation of Dublin for the purpose of carrying out their housing schemes, we beg to make application to you accordingly.

It may not be within the knowledge of the directors of your bank that, under the terms of the Housing (Ireland) Act, 1919, the Government will not lend money for housing purposes to local authorities whose valuation is in excess of £200,000. The Corporation is thus debarred from looking to the usual source for financing housing schemes—namely, the Treasury Local Loans Fund—and are thrown upon their own resources to raise the necessary money. We do not propose to labour the urgent necessity for housing in Dublin, as that is universally admitted.

The security to be offered for the repayment of the loan would be the usual one of the rates, which, for the purposes of discharging obligations of this kind, are unlimited.

The money would be required for a period of 60 years, with half-yearly repayments of principal during that period, and interest each half-year upon the balance then outstanding.

We are, yours faithfully,
L. O'Neill, Lord Mayor.
Henry Campbell, Town Clerk.

THE BANKS' REPLY.

Bank of Ireland, Dublin,
19th November, 1919.

H. Campbell, Esq.,
Town Clerk, City Hall, Dublin.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the letter of 12th instant from the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor and yourself, requesting me to consider, jointly with the other Irish banks, the question of pooling one million pounds, and advacing same to the Corporation of Dublin for the purposes of carrying out their housing schemes, I have consulted the banks as suggested, and all are in agreement that in present circumstances, when the demands of customers for trade and industry are so large and increasing, the banks could not make advances to a local body for the purposes named, as the proposal would involve the locking up of a large sum of money for a long period, and cannot be considered legitimate banking business.

Yours faithfully,
William P. Cairnes,
Deputy Governor.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY OF IRELAND.

SIR PATRICK DUN'S LIBRARY.

A meeting of the Bibliographical Society of Ireland was held last evening at the College of Physicians, Kildare street, Dublin, at which a paper on "The Library and Books of Sir Patrick Dun" was read by Dr. T. Percy C. Kirkpatrick. The lecturer gave a brief history of the life of Sir Patrick Dun, who was the founder of the hospital bearing his name. He was Physician to the Army in the time of William III., and fought with that monarch. At his death, in 1713, he bequeathed his library to the College of Physicians. He left his house at Inns quay to his widow for her lifetime, and reserved in it a room for the meetings of the College. He ordered that after his widow's death his money should be devoted to the support of the library and to found professorships. These were now the King's Professors in the School of Physic in Trinity College, Dublin. His library after a time was kept in Trinity College, where it remained up to 1815, when it was transferred to Sir Patrick's Dun's Hospital, which was built in accordance with the School of Physic Act, 1800. When the present College of Physicians was built, in 1865, the library was transferred there, and had remained there ever since. The library had grown from about 1,200 books in 1825 to over 13,000 to-day.

At the conclusion of the lecture a cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the lecturer. Mr. E. R. McC. Dix, M.R.I.A., presided at the meeting.

BURGLARY IN DUBLIN.

Yesterday morning Mr. Prost, proprietor of the coiffeur and perfumery establishment, 24 St. Stephen's Green, North, Dublin, discovered on entering his shop that it had been burgled during the night, and a sum of between £30 and £40 taken. A war memorial box and a cash register were rifled and letters containing cheques opened. The burglars, who apparently entered by the side of the shop, left behind no clue as to their identity. The lock of Messrs. Faulkiner's tobacco shop, in Great Brunswick street, yesterday morning also showed signs of having been tampered with, but no entry was effected.

CHEAPER COAL NEXT MONDAY.

PRICES REDUCED BY 10S. A TON.

CORRESPONDING FALL IN PRICE OF COKE.

STATEMENT BY SIR A. GEDDES.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

Sir A. Geddes, replying to Mr. Adamson, said that the Government had reviewed the whole question of the cost of coal in the light of all available information. The salient facts are that the actual obtained output from July 10 is less than at the rate of 207 million tons per annum. The output in recent weeks has shown a marked improvement. Prices ruling in export coal are unprecedentedly high, and the fall which was regarded as inevitable is certainly postponed by events in America. Prices in coastwise and foreign-going bunkers are so high that, in conjunction with other charges, there is the danger of average freights rising unless some corrective is applied. It is from these sources, export and bunker, that the profits are being made. Coal for inland purposes is sold at a loss—that is, the average price is below the cost of production. This is very unsatisfactory and very dangerous in the coal industry. Industrial coal must as soon as possible be sold on an economic basis. In the light of these facts it is proposed to modify at an early date the present system of coal control, which, in my opinion, now that more coal is becoming available, is unnecessarily hampering. We propose, therefore, to transform the coal controlling machinery until it consists of three parts only—(1) Limitation of the amount to be exported; (2) limitation of owners' profits; (3) special limitation of prices for coal supplied for domestic purposes. Steps will be taken to secure these modifications as rapidly as circumstances permit.

As a direct aid to the cost of living in these abnormal times we propose to fix prices for domestic and household coal at 10s. a ton below the present prices, which will allow householders to share in the privilege which workers in the industry have long enjoyed—(cheers)—and thus receive some benefit from the high value of this national asset.

We also propose to reduce prices on coastwise bunkers to an industrial level. These changes will take effect on Monday. We are further exploring the position in regard to foreign bunkers, but I am not in a position to make any announcement on this subject. I desire to warn householders not to postpone orders for necessary coal this week because of the reduction in price which will become effective next week. If they do, and if they expect to get unlimited supplies at the new price, they will be disappointed. This change can never be made without the co-operation of all concerned. The necessary orders to give effect to this decision will be issued in the course of this week.

Mr. George Terrell—Will this transaction involve the Exchequer in financial loss?

Sir A. Geddes—No. We estimate that approximately these reductions, with certain other changes contemplated in the near future, will bring the account out about square.

Mr. Houston—Does the right hon. gentleman recognise the vital necessity of increasing the quantity of export coal from the financial point of view?

Sir A. Geddes—Yes, from the financial point of view; but I also realise the necessity of having enough coal in this country. (Cheers.)

Lieut.-Col. Sir E. Hoare—Is the amount of coal to the consumer to be limited?

Sir A. Geddes—I said nothing about the amount being free. When we eliminate three-parts of the coal control rationing will be off. Meantime it continues.

Mr. Seddon—Will those who give orders this week participate in the reduction which is to take place next week?

Sir A. Geddes—Not if they get the coal this week. (Laughter.)

Sir J. Butcher—Will there be a reduction in domestic coke corresponding to the reduction in the price of coal?

Sir A. Geddes—Yes; we will work out the reduction in respect of coke, etc.

RECEPTION OF THE NEWS.

GAS MAY BE CHEAPER.

A Press Association message says that general surprise was caused by the announcement of a 10s. per ton reduction in the price of household coal and the bringing down of coastwise bunker coal to the industrial level. An official of the Coal Factors' Society stated that, as regarded bunker coal, he anticipated a reduction of something like 30s. per ton. This should have a very substantial bearing on all freights, especially food freights, and should slightly reduce the cost of living. The effect on the railways would be considerable. A great deal of the railway subsidy was being paid on coal, the commodity being mainly carried by rail.

The London gas companies' experts were guarded in their statement as to the extent of the reduction in the price of household gas, in view of other factors in the situation, such as the great increase in the cost of other materials, and of labour. At the same time, a substantial drop in the price of coal, it was admitted, must appreciably affect the gas charges.

The South Yorkshire coal-owners are reticent on the subject. One official said that the colliery companies could not sell coal below the cost of production, but if the miners were to be subsidised they would have no cause for complaint.

The Doncaster coalfield proprietors preferred to refrain from comment until a further opportunity of considering the general effect of the reduction had been afforded them.

Coal-owners in the Sheffield district expressed astonishment at the announcement, and those selling domestic fuel candidly say that the reduction will spell ruin for many pits. What, with reduced output and slacking on the part of many men, and this "amazing decrease," they could not carry on. On the other hand, the miners' leaders contend that the Government's decision proves that the 6s. advance was never necessary, and that the Government made a blunder in putting it on. Their action, it was contended, justified everything that the Labour Party had done on the question.

THE POSITION IN DUBLIN.

The announcement made yesterday in the House of Commons by Sir A. Geddes, that a reduction would be made from Monday next of 10s. per ton in the price of domestic coal, was welcomed in Dublin. The addition of the recent increase of 6s. per ton was keenly felt by all sections of the community, but by none so much as the poor, who have suffered severely during the present spell of wet and cold weather, both from the high price and the scarcity of all classes of fuel. In manufacturing circles, the intimation was also heard with pleasure. Householders should note Sir A. Geddes's warning against postponing the purchasing of coal until the changes come into effect on Monday next, as disappointment may result if unlimited supplies are not then available. It is probable that the effects of the restricted exports may not be felt for some little time.

COAL STOCKS AT THE PORT.

In connection with the forthcoming reduction of 10s. per ton in the price of coal, a glance at the stocks of such fuel on the banks at the port of Dublin yesterday showed that fairly ample quantities were on hand. At the east end of the port there was, in fact, a surfeit of coal, as, owing to a proper supply of railway trucks not being available last week, the North Wall Extension Pier had to be utilised as a dumping ground for fuel freight from steam colliers, which declined to be further delayed in port.

SOLDIER ATTACKED IN COUNTY CORK.

RIFLE FORCIBLY TAKEN.

On Sunday night, at about 7 o'clock, a soldier on his way to the camp at Mount Massey, Macroom, was intercepted by a party of men at the top of Castle street, and his rifle forcibly taken. The victim of this attack, which appeared to be entirely unpremeditated, was a unit of a cycling patrol that passed through the town some time previously, but falling ill on the way he was sent back to camp with an escort. The escort was leading some distance, it is believed, when the assault took place, and was unaware of the occurrence until he missed his companion and made inquiries. The police are actively pursuing inquiries.

MILITARY DESPATCH RIDER HELD UP.

A military despatch rider cycling through Henry street was stopped by a crowd, who, however, did not molest him. They examined his despatches, it is stated, then returned them to him, and allowed him to proceed.

SINN FEIN COMMISSION OF INQUIRY.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION.

COMMISSION DECLARED ILLEGAL.

DISCUSSION AT MONAGHAN COUNTY COUNCIL.

Remarkable developments took place in connection with the adjourned half-yearly meeting of the Monaghan County Council yesterday. The County Council at their last meeting invited the Commission of Inquiry, which was appointed some time ago by the Dail Eireann, to meet in Monaghan, and appear before the Council, and on the agenda was the item—"to receive deputation from Sinn Fein Commission of Inquiry." Messrs. William Martin, solicitor, Monaghan, and Mr. E. Knight, solicitor, Clones, wrote a joint letter to the local Unionist newspaper, the Northern Standard, declining to take part in the proceedings of the Council on account of this item being on the agenda.

The County Council Chamber of the Courthouse was crowded at the hour of meeting, and when Mr. Darrel Figgis and Mr. John MacNeill entered the room there was an outburst of applause. District Inspector Richardson was present, with Sergeants Rocks and Maguire.

Prior to the meeting, Mr. T. Toal, J.P., Chairman of the Council, was seen in consultation with the District Inspector, and was heard to say, "I don't blame you at all; I blame the Government." Subsequently, when the Chairman took his seat, he said—I very much regret the little delay in starting our business here to-day. The reason is that we have met under very peculiar circumstances. I will just ask the Secretary to read a notice he received from one of the sergeants of the local police the previous day.

Mr. D. C. Rushe, Secretary, then read as follows:—"Sergeant Rocks called on me on the 23rd November, 1919, and informed me that, by direction of his authorities, he was to warn me as Secretary for the Monaghan County Council, that the proposed deputation from the Sinn Fein Commission of Inquiry, referred to in the publication of the Monaghan Northern Standard of the 22nd inst., is illegal, and should not be received at the County Council meeting in Monaghan on Monday, the 24th November, 1919."

THE CHAIRMAN'S RESOLUTION.

The Chairman then said—In view of the insult that has been offered to this Council, I venture to propose the following resolution:—"An insult of the grossest character has been offered to the Council, we must assume by the authority of the Military Government at present ruling this country by martial law. A common sergeant of the police has notified the Secretary and Chairman of this Council that the County Council of Monaghan is not to proceed with certain business on the agenda—business which has for its object the development of Irish commerce. The discussion to-day, and the reception of the report of the Commission of Inquiry, would show that England is at the present moment endeavouring to prevent the introduction of direct trading with foreign ports. This underling has been sent here by men who fear to have the facts of the case shown to the peoples of Ireland, Europe, and America, in the course of debate, by a representative democratic assembly such as this. In protest we refuse to carry on our meeting at the point of the bayonet, and we hereby adjourn in consequence of our being no longer a free assembly of the people's delegates." (Loud cheers and boohs.)

Mr. Peter Mullan—I have great pleasure in seconding the resolution proposed by the Chairman. (Loud cheers.)

The resolution was then put to the meeting, and the Chairman said that, as there was no one to speak in support of, or to propose an amendment, he had great pleasure in declaring the resolution unanimously passed. (Loud applause.) In all fair play, he said, I think that the matter should not rest here, and I have prepared a statement which, if the Council approve of, I will hand to the Press. He then read the statement, which was as follows:—

A DEFENCE OF SINN FEIN.

"We view with surprise the letter of Messrs. Martin and Knight in reference to the deputation from the Commission of Inquiry appointed to deal with the industrial development of the county. It should be evident to those who are sincere in their representation of the ratepayers of the county that the economic difficulties with which we are now faced should not be made a question of petty party politics. Ireland, Protestant and Catholic, wants a means to have a way out of its economic slavery.

"The present Commission of Inquiry are associated with those who have declared a National Arbor Day. After seven hundred years of foreign government, Ireland is the most denuded country in Europe. On the 29th November 20,000 trees will be planted in County Monaghan. If the invitation to a deputation from the Commission of Inquiry is illegal, then Arbor Day and the planting of trees is illegal. The Forestry Committee of the County Council have decided to recognise this Arbor Day. Will Messrs. Martin and Knight have the insolence to demand that this should also be declared illegal, and, if they do, what are the Protestant farmers of Monaghan going to do about it?

"The Commission of Inquiry are interested in a matter known as direct trading. The Protestant farmers of Ulster are deeply interested too, though some of them may not know it. As a result of the activities of those associated with the deputation to be received by the County Council to-day, direct trading is now an established fact. Must this also be declared illegal, and, if it is, will the Protestant farmers of Ulster be content to pay the extra charge thereby involved on the importation of their feeding stuffs, and to receive from £2 to £3 a head less for the cattle which they may export to France before many months have passed? No doubt, Messrs. Martin and Knight, being lawyers, know something about what is legal, and what is not; but it is nearly time, as representatives of agricultural ratepayers who want to be economically free, that they began to know something about the business of farming. The mineral wealth of Ireland is sorely in need of development. The Commission of Inquiry is active there, too. Its development might mean in greater or less degree a home market for Irish agricultural produce. Is that accomplishment also illegal? Of course, the existing Government should do all these things, but why do they not? Why has the Protestant farmer of Ulster been exploited in the past in the same way as the Catholic farmers of Munster?

"In view of all this, would it not be well if Messrs. Martin and Knight wrote another letter to the Northern Standard explaining where they do stand on matters of so much economic importance to their farmer constituents? The declaration of the Competent Authority making Sinn Fein an illegal organisation is a repetition of the policy of such authority towards every organisation originated for the benefit of our country for centuries. The two gentlemen who signed the letter are old enough to remember the last two organisations which were proclaimed as illegal, and within a very short time after the proclamations the Government of England negotiated with the leaders and accepted the policies of these criminal organizations.

"As to the allegations connecting the Sinn Fein organisation with murders and outrages, there is no proof of such connection. Such allegations are merely the writing of unprincipled political newspapers. But why should attempts be made by Irishmen to blacken their own country? What about murders and crime in other countries? Why, there were more murders and crime in London within the last six months than there has been in the whole of Ireland in as many years."

Mr. Stoney proposed, and Mr. J. McQuaid seconded, that the statement be published.

Mr. O'Rourke also supported the statement.

The meeting then broke up, and snatches of "The Soldier's Song" were heard, also cries of "Up, Dublin."

THE ULSTER DEPUTATION TO AMERICA.

FAREWELL GATHERING IN BELFAST.

The deputation representing the Presbyterian, Episcopal, and Methodist Churches of Ireland left Belfast yesterday afternoon for the United States of America to place before the people there the attitude of Unionist Ulster to the Home Rule question. A farewell gathering in the Midland Station Hotel was attended by a large number of Belfast Unionists.

The Right Hon. Sir James Johnston, ex-Lord Mayor, on behalf of the Protestant population of Belfast, wished the delegates a safe voyage. They knew, he said, that the delegates would do their duty well. (Applause.)

Rev. William Corkey, replying, said that they knew that they had with them the warm hearts of the people of Ulster in that great mission. They felt that they could go out with a message to their own kith and kin, who held the same ideals, both in government and religious life.

Messages of goodwill were received from Sir Edward Carson, the Bishop of Down, and others.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

PARIS MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

A Reuter Paris telegram says—The Paris Municipal elections, which will be held on Sunday next, present points of exceptional interest and importance. Firstly, after five years war, there are many vital matters affecting Paris which have necessarily been left in abeyance, and must immediately be studied and settled, and regarding which the composition of the new Council will affect and determine future action. Secondly, the Socialists are making a great effort to prove by their success in these elections that the results of the legislative elections of last week do not represent public opinion, but are a consequence of the deficiencies of the new electoral law. The issue, therefore, is still largely political, and as the Municipal elections are run on practically the same basis as were the former Parliamentary elections, the result is anxiously awaited.

THE NEW PRISON ORDER.

The Order relating to the treatment of prisoners on hunger strike, and stating that "prisoners who resort to hunger-striking will not in any circumstances be released from prison either unconditionally or conditionally," was posted up yesterday in the cells of Mountjoy Prison, where there are at present forty-two Sinn Fein prisoners undergoing sentences for offences under the defence of the Realm Act. No change in the treatment of these prisoners has so far been made.

The Lord Mayor visited these prisoners yesterday, and last night stated that he regarded the Order as a breach of an undertaking given to him on behalf of the political prisoners by Mr. Duke, the former Chief Secretary. The terms of the Order will come into operation to-day.

THE DUBLIN "ZOO."

PROFESSOR SCOTT AND ITS EARLY TROUBLES.

At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, Dublin, at Kidd's Restaurant, Nassau street, yesterday, Dr. E. M. Fannin, President, occupied the chair, and there was a large attendance of members. Professor J. Alfred Scott delivered a lecture on the work of the Royal Zoological Society.

The President thanked the members for the honour that they had done him in putting him in the chair, and said that he was one of their oldest members, being among the first half dozen in the Rotary Club, from which he had derived a great amount of pleasure and instruction.

Mr. William A. McConnell, hon. secretary, read a letter from the Rathmines and Rathgar Musical Society asking for the support of the club for their performances next week in aid of the Maternity Hospital, and the President said that the support would be forthcoming as usual.

The President then introduced Professor Scott, and said that, although the Zoological Gardens were a sort of side line in the life of the City of Dublin, they were associated from their earliest days with instruction and entertainment, and they welcomed Professor Scott as one who knew more about the working of the Gardens than anyone else.

PROFESSOR SCOTT.

Professor Scott, who was received with applause, told some interesting stories of the early days of the Dublin "Zoo," which was started on the London model in May, 1830, subsequent to a meeting held in the Rotunda under the chairmanship of the then Duke of Leinster. The Gardens were opened in September, 1831, and among the opening features were a wild boar and a satellite in the shape of a man to mind it. (Laughter.) After some little time other boars were added, also an antelope and some ostriches. Then as time went on they got a wolf and a leopard, and later on a lioness and a tigress, but five years later these two last had to be sold to save the "Zoo" from bankruptcy. This state of financial distress frequently happened at the "Zoo," but was as frequently overcome. There was one occasion when an overdraft was required, and there was so much difficulty over it that the Society determined to deposit a tiger as security. That got them out of that difficulty. (Prolonged laughter.) He paid a tribute to the late Rev. Samuel Haughton and to Lord Roberts, both of whom did excellent work for the Society, and after both of whom houses are named in the Gardens. As regards the present house of the Society in the Gardens, Professor Scott said that it was built in 1860, and was not the original house, as some people might think. In the year 1830 the lion and tigress were, as stated, sold to save the Gardens from bankruptcy, and some thirteen years later it was deemed advisable to purchase a lion and lioness, which were named Natal and Natalie after their place of origin, and that strain had been preserved in the history of the Gardens until the present day. Everyone knew about their lions, and they had been breeding from the descendants of these two lions ever since, and their descendants were there now. Another lion from whom they had descendants in the Gardens was named Jerry on his arrival from Africa. At first Jerry was allowed to run about loose in the Gardens, but then he trampled on the flowers, and the keeper had to lead him about on a chain. A little later Jerry led the keeper about on a chain. (Laughter.) During the war they had successfully tried to keep up the collection of animals in the Gardens. The mortality in the London Gardens was a little higher than they should like to have it in Dublin. In London they had countless animals, many of which were never seen, but in Dublin they had not got any animals that could not be seen, and they had tried to keep them up during the war, and they now had a fair collection of great number and variety. Speaking of monkeys, Professor Scott made the interesting statement that monkeys had a language which could be understood by man if he only took the trouble. He had taken some trouble with the subject, and had spoken with them over and over again. It was quite interesting, but he only knew a couple of words. (Laughter.) The breakfasts of the Society were started in 1837, and were held regularly for business purposes ever since, with a few exceptions, such as when Christmas Day fell on Saturday, and, of course, the Saturday during the Irish rebellion. (More laughter.) In conclusion, Professor Scott appealed for subscriptions to the Society and for a wider interest in the Gardens.

A vote of thanks to Professor Scott ended the proceedings.

THE LATE LORD LANGFORD.

TRIBUTE OF DUBLIN Y.M.C.A.

The monthly meeting of the Managing Committee of the City of Dublin Young Men's Christian Association was held on the 20th inst. in the Association Building, 43 Upper Sackville street, Dublin, Mr. W. Houghton Fry presiding. Also present:—Captain D. B. Gilmore, Messrs. Wm. Allen, R. P. Kingston, T. S. Woods, E. Hill, W. J. M. Coulter, T. F. Adams, W. T. Kennan, T. Mayes, E. W. Purdon, and the General and Assistant Secretaries.

The Chairman, before proceeding to business, referred to the lamented death of the President of the Association, Lord Langford, and moved the following resolution, which was passed the members standing:—"That the Committee and members of the City of Dublin Young Men's Christian Association have heard with profound regret of the decease of their honoured and esteemed President, Lord Langford. They desire to place on record their gratitude for the services which he rendered to the Association during fourteen years as their President. The keen practical interest which he took in the affairs of the Association and his support of the ideals for which the Association stands, was at all times an inspiration and encouragement to the Committee and members. They deplore his decease, and desire to tender to Lady Langford their deepest sympathy with her in her sad bereavement, praying that God may comfort her in her great sorrow." And that a copy of this resolution be sent to Lady Langford.

OBITUARY.

CAPTAIN J. H. ANKETELL-JONES.

Captain J. H. Anketell-Jones (5th Royal Irish Lancers Reserve), attached Egyptian Army, died at Talodi, Nubia Mountain Province, from blackwater fever, on the 16th inst. The deceased officer was most popular in Dublin, where he served for some years, at Marlborough Barracks, and the Curragh, previous to taking up his duties in the Sudan. Much sympathy will be felt with his widow and his mother, Mrs. Anketell-Jones, of The Orchards, Palmerston Park, Dublin.

SEQUEL TO ROBBERY AT INCHICORE.

An arrest has been effected by the Royal Irish Constabulary in connection with the raid about a fortnight ago by five armed and masked men on Mr. Moore's publichouse at Blackhall Bridge, Third Lock, Inchicore, when a sum of about £40 was taken away. In connection with this arrest the police searched a house in the locality and found five revolvers. It is stated that the man is detained in Dublin pending instructions from the military authorities.

PARLIAMENT.

THE ELECTRICITY BILL.

FURTHER PROGRESS ON REPORT STAGE.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

The Electricity Supply Bill, as amended in Standing Committee, was further considered on report.

On Clause 7, which deals with the acquisition of generating stations by District Electricity Boards, the Home Secretary asked leave to withdraw an amendment that he had on the paper to include railway and dock generating stations within the scope of the clause. He said that when he put down the amendment he had forgotten that he had been a party to an agreement which bound him. Having regard to a subsequent amendment which he should ask the House to accept dealing with the rights of railway companies when they were taking electricity from the District Boards, he was quite satisfied that the arrangement that he had made with the railways was perfectly sound.

The amendment was withdrawn accordingly.

Major Barnes moved an amendment providing that generating stations and main transmission lines shall be paid for by compensation determined by agreement, or, failing agreement, under the provisions of the Acquisition of Land Compensation Act, instead of by means of the standard price, as defined in the bill.

The Home Secretary said that if he accepted the amendment it would involve the recasting of a large portion of the bill to the detriment of its provisions. He was satisfied that they had got a fair and reasonable basis in the bill.

Mr. Ronald McNeill and Sir F. Banbury supported the amendment on the ground that the Government proposals abrogated the Parliamentary arrangement of 1888, under which the power companies were granted a period of 42 years during which their undertakings were not to be interfered with.

Sir A. Williamson contended that the shareholders would be in a better position under the Government proposals than otherwise.

The amendment was negatived by 204 votes to 44.

THE CASE OF THE DUBLIN TRAMWAYS.

The Home Secretary moved an amendment favouring that, if in any case it is proved to the satisfaction of the Electricity Commissioners that owing to exceptional terms of purchase contained in the special Act relating to a company the standard price would work an injustice, the Commissioners shall, on the application of the company, refer the matter to an arbitrator appointed by the Board of Trade for his determination whether any addition to the standard price should be made.

Mr. Bridgeman explained that this amendment was intended to meet a special case, such as that of the Dublin tramways.

The amendment was agreed to.

A number of drafting amendments were made to subsequent clauses.

On Clause 15, Sir F. Hall moved a new subsection, providing that no order should be made authorising the abstraction of water from any dock regulated by Act of Parliament, or from the Manchester Ship Canal, except with the consent of the owners thereof, and subject to such terms and conditions as might be agreed.

Mr. Leslie Scott seconded.

Mr. Shortt, in resisting the amendment, said that there was already contained in the bill protection of the kind desired.

The amendment was still under discussion, when, at 11 o'clock, the debate stood adjourned.

AMERICA AND THE IRISH QUESTION.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S MISSION TO WASHINGTON.

In the House of Commons yesterday, a member, on behalf of Mr. Jellett, asked the Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs whether His Majesty's Ambassador at Washington had gone there with any mission as regards the Irish question.

Sir Hamar Greenwood said that His Majesty's Ambassador at Washington, as regards the Irish question, had only the same mission entrusted to him as was entrusted to ambassadors of the Government abroad—viz., to explain when necessary the policy of His Majesty's Government. (Laughter.)

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY'S RECITALS.

MR. FREDERICK DAWSON.

No less than eleven composers were drawn from yesterday by Mr. Dawson at his pianoforte recital, and from some of them he gave several distinctive examples. From the first it was realised that his technique would be equal to the demands of the long programme. He played the Bach Fugue, A minor (Alla Toccata) with delightful ease and directness, the complex involved work going so smoothly that one watched in vain for the "steeples" Spitta tells us to look for in Bach. Certainly in this cleverness there was nothing of the ponderous over-elaboration that so offends the modern ear. From Beethoven Mr. Dawson chose Sonata, E major, Op. 109, the Prestissimo, a brilliant movement, and the clean-cut, slow theme finely contrasted with the variation background. The lovely Nocturne (John Field) set one thinking. It remained a pleasant memory, even after the exquisite Chopin examples, which were object lessons of what we owe to Field for having invented this form in music. Perhaps, if our present-day musicians would work on Field's path-breaking lines an Irish school would become a possibility. Three typical Debussy examples—as far as anything can be said to be typical of Debussy—were listened to with the closest attention. It is difficult to listen honestly to Debussy. For instance, who could say "La Fille aux cheveux de lin" gave one any picture of its subject? It was beautiful, wavering, with almost a suggestion of a folk-song idea, but the title is entirely fanciful. In "Jardins sous la pluie," however, there is a real tone-painting. The drip and rush of rain and the sense of cool refreshment after the shower are there—or should be; but one felt that Mr. Dawson treated this too heavily, as M. Cortot's playing of it is still a vivid picture in the mind. "Minstrels," even after Cortot, was altogether happy, cleverly conceived, with many curious touches. From Ravel were two instances, Ondine and the moving "Pavane for a dead Infanta." The latter was treated most carefully, great pathos underlying the restraint of the rhythm. We feel this, too, in spite of our repugnance to such a form of expression of grief. Cyril Scott, Thalberg, and Saint-Saens gave Mr. Dawson a wide range for display of considerable power in thought, decoration, and control. But his Schumann Papillons, Op. 2, alone would have done that. Its twelve numbers need mentality, as does all Schumann, and Mr. Dawson gave it admirably, the theatrical touches not too pronounced, and the valse very shapely and nice in definition. A really dramatic performance, too, was that of Schubert's "Erlking" (Liszt). This, perhaps the most dramatic of all songs, was picked out against a wonderful accompaniment of changing hands. Many phrases were very intense, the suggestion of a ride very fine, indeed. It went with such force and spirit that the facile, shapely "Etude en forme de Valse" (Saint-Saens), brilliant as it is, was all too tame. Mr. Dawson may err sometimes as to temperament, leaning more to the difficult and dignified than to the softer, serener side of music; but he came with considerable distinction through this long and arduous programme.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE SUCKLING SINN FEINER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I do not, as a rule, extract amusement from Irish politics—one must be a partisan to do that—but I confess to finding myself greatly intrigued by a letter which appeared in last Thursday's issue of the Daily Mail from one P. J. Lysaght. I do not know who Mr. Lysaght is. On the face of his epistle he is very ignorant, very truculent, and I imagine (and hope) very young. Youth, ignorance, and truculence are all stimuli necessary to the life-principle of successful revolutions, but their place is in the body of the animal and not in its head. The impotence of the Sinn Fein organism lies in the fact that it began life with a rush of these manifestations of vigour to the head, the body remaining inert and apathetic. It has been a cretin from birth. The mountains of Irish emotionalism opened, and produced, not a ridiculous mouse, indeed, but a ridiculously feeble monster.

I do not think Sinn Fein could ever have secured an Irish Republic, but it could have done a great deal for Ireland's benefit. It could, in the first place, have raised the world's opinion of the Irish character instead of lowering it—could have convinced England that the Irish are capable of self-government and America that they are capable of clean government. Had it exhibited any restraint, any statecraft, any constructive ability, it could have secured in the minds of the Irish people who really count for something in the world the status of manhood instead of that of unsmacked youth. Lastly, it could, for better or for worse, have made British government in Ireland impossible without shedding a drop of blood or breaking a single law. It is a pity. I am wedded to no specific remedies for the sickness of Ireland's soul, but it has become a habit with me to look to the extreme left for the drive and thrust of progress, just as one looks to the right for the equally necessary ability stoutly to resist too rapid change. Sinn Fein has vigour, but its blows land en plein air. It has imagination, but not the self-knowledge or self-control that enables men to become what they believe themselves to be. It has ideals, but neither the restraint nor the constructive ability that turns ideals into realities. The result is that, with its weasel's head on a wolf's body, with its vapid conceits and windy jabber, with its senseless stabbers at the bottom and its inconsequent poseurs at the top, Sinn Fein cuts rather a pathetic figure. To a campaign that calls for the supreme oratory, the dogged perseverance, and the alert statesmanship of a Parnell it brings the corner-boy with the coman.

This brings me back in the most natural way to Mr. Lysaght and his letter to the Daily Mail. "Were it not for the arms and organisation of the Irish people," says Mr. Lysaght, "her sons to a man would have been slaughtered in the front line trenches fighting a people with whom they have always been, and still are, on the friendliest terms." Now, as a matter of fact, the Irish people did not resist conscription with arms—which they did not possess—but with oaths taken before priests. The organisation was not that of the Irish people, but that of the Catholic Church. Nor, even if we suppose conscription to have gone through without a hitch, is it true that Ireland's sons would have been slaughtered "to a man" in the front line trenches. By the time their training would have been completed there were no front line trenches. The hard fighting was over. I merely mention these things to show the kind of drivel Mr. Lysaght offers for public consumption—the babblings of emotional school children poured into the sophisticated ears of men and women of the world.

It is the last part of the sentence that is important. I do not contest Mr. Lysaght's statement that the Irish have always been, and still are, on the friendliest terms with Germany. It is not I, but Mr. de Valera and Mr. Griffith, and still more vehemently Messrs. Devlin and MacVeagh, who deny the allegation. For the moment I am not concerned whether it is true or false. I desire to draw attention to the complete asininity of having Mr. de Valera claim one thing in the United States and Mr. Lysaght proclaiming the reverse in the public Press of England. I ask any reasonable man—any reasonable Sinn Feiner, if such a thing exists—whether persons of Mr. Lysaght's temperament and intelligence could be other than a curse to even the most hopeless cause. Ireland has nobody but herself to thank, he continues, that she had no food control. Does he really think that, if ration cards had been introduced into Ireland, she would have haughtily flung them from her? Has he forgotten—or did he not hear—how, after about five days of the English railway strike, Ireland was squealing like a cat in a bucket of boiling water for the settlement of the strike and the resumption of trade with England?

Finally, Mr. Lysaght rejoices that the League of Nations "has gone down before the onslaught of the Gael." To me it seems clear that the one recompense to England for the rejection of the League of Nations by the United States will be that England will no longer be under any obligation to consider any American's feelings—certainly not any American politician's interests—where Ireland is concerned. Probably the majority of English voters would pass a Home Rule Bill to please America. Not one in five would vote for it to satisfy Ireland. Remove the necessity of pleasing America and the Englishman can, and doubtless will, treat Ireland as if it were a nation of Lysaghts. I pass no judgment or opinion on the rights or wrongs of any of these matters. My object is to suggest that the worst cause run by intelligent men has a better chance of success than the best cause in the hands of the immature and the brainless. What the Sinn Fein movement could do under the right conditions I do not know. The Lysaght movement can move in only one direction—the ash-can of Destiny.—Yours, etc.,

"SCRUTATOR."

COMPULSORY TILLAGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The Department of Agriculture has issued an order that the area under tillage for 1920 is to be the same proportion as in 1919—viz., 15 per cent. of arable land on holdings of ten statute acres and upwards. The Prime Minister, in the House of Commons a few days ago, gave notice of early legislation to encourage the production of food-stuffs and guarantee to the farmers a reasonable profit for their labour. It is an undisputed fact that some districts in Ireland are most suitable for tillage, and in those districts there ought to be no need for compulsion, as it pays the farmer to cultivate the land. The position of farmers in the West of Ireland is very different, where, owing to climate and the labour difficulties one has to contend with, tillage means farming at a loss. During the war a great effort was made by all classes of farmers to produce more food-stuffs, and, in order to do so, a large area of good old pasture and meadow land was put under the plough. The result was disappointing, as the yield did not pay the cost of seeding and labour.

In this country last spring we had an instance of what increased tillage did for the farmers. Owing to the best meadow land being ploughed there was a great shortage of hay, the price of which went up to £20 a ton. Consequently the milch cows and store cattle were in a starved condition when the grass season came on. The land, which would have given a good crop of hay, produced, owing to the wet harvest of 1918, rotten straw and grain only fit for pig-feeding. It is a difficult matter after an experience of the kind to induce farmers to continue tilling, and I certainly think that the Department of Agriculture should have taken the difficulties which the farmers in the West of Ireland have to contend with into account before issuing their compulsory order for 1920.

At the present time in this country farmers are suffering acutely from the restrictions on fairs and markets. These restrictions have been in force for almost four months, and during that time only two small fairs were allowed. I understand that the Government are of opinion that the stopping of fairs prevents the increase of crime, and, in order to carry out their policy, the law-abiding people are penalised. I venture to say that 90 per cent. of the farming population in Clare have no sympathy with the perpetrators of these outrages, and it seems unfair that they should be prevented from selling their stock at a time when they have not sufficient feed to carry them over the winter. I just mention this matter of the restrictions on fairs to show the form of encouragement that the Government are giving to law-abiding farmers in this country to continue tilling their lands.—Yours, etc.,

THE MOTOR PERMIT ORDER.

DRIVERS REFUSE TO APPLY FOR FORMS.

The members of the Management Committee of the Irish Automobile Drivers' and the Automobile Mechanics' Union decided at a private meeting held on Sunday at the Dublin Trades Hall not to apply for permits under the Motor Permits Order. An emphatic protest was made at a public meeting against the Order "issued," as alleged, "by the English military authorities." It was stated that some firms had given a guarantee in filling up the permit forms as required under the Order that they would have in their employment only men who were able to produce permits. In reference to that state of things, Mr. O'Connor, general secretary of the Union, said that "it was up to the men to show that they would have drivers without permits or none."

The Rev. J. Powell, M.A., rector of Howth, and Rev. J. F. Shearman, M.A., curate of Clontarf, were elected Minor Canons.

The Rev. J. Tobias, B.D., senior curate of Christ Church, Leeson Park, has also been elected Minor Canon.

Subsequently, at Evensong, the Rev. H. R. Brett, M.A., rector of St. Peter's, Belfast, was installed as Prebendary of Wicklow.

ORATORIO SERVICE.

The date of the Oratorio Service at St. Patrick's Cathedral has been changed. The Service will be rendered on Friday, December 5th, at 8 p.m., when the "Messiah" (Handel) will be sung. No tickets will be issued this year to the general public, but a certain number of seats will be reserved for regular worshippers and those who subscribe to the Cathedral funds.

WATER-POWER RESOURCES OF IRELAND.

Batchen, Mr G. Fletcher, Mr. L. J. Kettle, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of Belfast, Lieutenant-Colonel Craster, and Professor Jeffcott, Secretary.

After transacting business, the Sub-Committee adjourned till Monday, 8th December.

FLAX (IRISH CROP) AMENDMENT ORDER, 1919.

With reference to the Flax (Irish Crop) Amendment Order, 1919, which appeared in the London Gazette on the 21st inst., the Secretary of the Flax Control Board, London, desires to point out that the price for the various grades, etc., were wrongly stated in the Order, and that the Order will be amended immediately. The prices (per stone, delivered at the appointed centre) to rule for Irish flax of the 1919 crop are as follows:—1st grade, 45s.; 2nd grade, 43s.; 3rd grade, 41s.; 4th grade, 39s.; 5th grade, 37s.; 6th grade, 35s.

Flax, which is inferior in quality to that of the sixth grade, will be paid for according to its relative value.

GAIETY THEATRE.

"THE NAUGHTY WIFE."

There is nothing new or nothing very naughty in "The Naughty Wife," a comedy in three acts, by Fred Jackson, which was performed for the first time in Dublin last evening at the Gaiety Theatre. It is the old theme brought up to date—a hysterical wife who thinks her husband does not love her, and the inevitable elopement with the usual cad, who "makes love divinely." But it is unusual to find a type of husband like Hilary Farrington, who actually superintends the elopement, packs the trunks, and does everything to make the departing pair comfortable. He even places his country bungalow at their disposal, and, lest there be any hitch in the arrangements, receives them on their arrival, and sees that everything is right. Farrington, for the first time, tears himself away from his uncompleted novel to attend to his wife, and he deliberately overdoes it in order to reveal his true nature. The result is, of course, obvious, but, before the reunion takes place, there are some awkward situations in the bungalow. The disposal of the bedrooms is unfortunately made the occasion of a rather suggestive scene, but the whole tone of the play is so absurd that one can hardly be offended by this crowning absurdity. Omitting this incident, the whole affair is harmless farce, capably played and effectively staged. Mr. Owen Roughwood carries through the part of Farrington with the requisite veneer of complacence, and is always apparently at his ease. As Mrs. Farrington, Miss Margaret Swallow is as hysterical as needs be, and is convincing throughout. Mr. Patrick Quill is sufficiently caddish as Darrell McKnight, and Miss Hilda Stewart, as Mrs. Gail, a widow, makes a distinct impression in her favour, but, at times, talks too rapidly. Mr. F. Fenton, as Carter, the man servant, is dignity personified. Miss Iris Vandeleur, as Annette, a maid; Mr. James Carrall, as a bishop, and Mr. W. G. Hyam, as a chauffeur, complete an excellent cast.

Among the selections admirably played by the orchestra is the "Merrie England" Overture, which is, no doubt, included in anticipation of the performance next week of Edward German's opera by the Rathmines and Rathgar Musical Society, in aid of Hollis street Hospital.

THEATRE ROYAL.

Miss Ada Reeve was very pleasing, and had a thoroughly flattering reception at the Theatre Royal last evening. Her style is all her own, and it is very dainty and alluring. She is endowed with a nice voice, but it is not precisely her singing that fascinates. Her sprightly manner, her quietly graceful movements, her command of the grave and the gay mood by turns, have that about them which can be keenly admired, but cannot be described. Her imaginary dialogue with her baby, Jim, was a consummate work of art of its sort. She had a recall, and the curtain went down amidst the applause of the large audience. Jessie Broughton and Dennis Creedon presented a very acceptable musical interlude. Both are good vocalists, as they proved in their rendering of "Fairy Tales of Ireland," and "I love your eyes of grey." Mr. Creedon is a competent violinist, and Miss Broughton is no less competent on the piano. Lois Barker and Percy Tarling gave a good show in humour and music of their own composition, and they were well received. Harry French, the double-voiced vocalist; 'Erbert, the emergency comedian; Alf. Thomas, a frivolous one, and the Balfe Family (a gentleman and two young ladies), in a novel cycling act, furnished excellent entertainment.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

"A Mother's Love" is the title of a domestic drama, which opened a week's engagement before large and appreciative audiences at the Queen's Theatre last night. The play is presented by Mr. Joe Howard and an all-Dublin company, and produced under the direction of Mr. Ira Allen. The piece is one which possesses a strong appeal to the sympathies of an emotional audience, the characters including a curate, a man of the world, the oldest inhabitant, and the vicar's wife and daughter, and the moral of the play is one which commends itself to popular acceptance. The principal parts were filled by Mr. Thomas Moran, Mr. Charles Doyle, Mr. Leo Strong, Mr. C. O'Driscoll, Mr. Ira Allen, Miss May Fitzpatrick, Miss Florry Amery, Miss May Murnane, and Miss Molly Douglas. The piece, which is in six scenes, will be produced twice nightly during the week.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

There are some exceptionally attractive features provided in the bill of fare at the Empire Theatre this week, and several old favourites were cordially re-welcomed by good houses at both performances last evening. Syd Walker, the well-known comedian, had a popular reception, and his sketch of the old woman "doing a little bit of marketing," in which he is assisted by two or three others, was alike clever and amusing. He was also good in his song, "Where do the flies go?" Lottie Lennox is an entertaining comedienne, who successfully appeals to her audience. She sang several acceptable items, and was twice re-called, giving on her last appearance, by request, "Put on your old green bonnet." Dollie and Billie appeared to advantage in character song studies, and a musical turn by the Bronte Four was excellent, and much appreciated. The remainder of a capital programme was made up by Brame and Partner in "Promenade Perturbations"; Fred. Harford and Grace O'Malley in a cross-talk sketch, "Who did?" Jack Bell and Dorothy Dean, entertainers, in a two-step, "Down in Jangletown."

TIVOLI THEATRE.

Mr. Horace Wheatley, the "genial Irishman," as he has been described, topped the bill at the Tivoli Theatre last evening. He had a repertoire of good stories about the adventures of his old friend, MacIntyre, and his ballad about Finigan was humorous and thoroughly racy. Everyone was glad to see this old Dublin favourite once more in his congenial element. Mr. Wheatley's humour is always pleasant, never in the least offensive, and this was the character of his entertainment last evening. Granby and Grant, comedians and dancers, were also well received. The Brunettes, in song and harmony, gave a satisfactory turn; and Fred Locker proved very enjoyable as a vocal and whistling entertainer. Koto and Lily produced an acceptable little sketch, entitled "Pussy at Home." Ross and Bassi, in song and chatter, were very entertaining, and were accorded a good reception. The rest of the programme was filled by the performance of Sivado and Lady, as gymnasts, and Antonio, in the rôle of an Italian street singer.

PICTURE HOUSES.

CARLTON CINEMA.—A further picture of the Goldwyn series, entitled "Money Mad," had a very favourable reception in the Carlton Cinema yesterday. Mae Marsh fills the leading part, and in every detail the film is well up to the usual Goldwyn standard. A splendid comedy, "Whose Little Wife are You" was also shown, together with a "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon and "Irish Events," in which prominence was given to Dublin before the Rebellion. Violin solos by Mr. Goldwater were appreciated.

BOHEMIAN PICTURE THEATRE.—In the Phibsborough road Cinema yesterday a magnificent film entitled "A Daughter of the Old South," was shown in Dublin for the first time. The leading rôle is filled by Pauline Frederick, whose character as a picturesque old-fashioned Creole girl lends additional charm to the story. Other pictures include a "L. Ko." comedy, "Irish Events," "Graphic," etc. Altogether a capital programme is provided.

GRAFTON PICTURE HOUSE.—At the Grafton Picture House Pauline Frederick also takes the leading place in the principal picture. This is "The Peace of Roaring River," a five-act story, containing many thrilling actions. The comedies shown yesterday were "Oriental Love" and "Ask Papa," and the interest reel "Current Events." On Thursday "My Little Boy" will be screened.

SACKVILLE PICTURE HOUSE.—"The Girl and the Judge," a Charles Frohman stage play, "starring" Olive Tell, won much praise at the Sackville Picture House yesterday. Two comedies, "Case of Comfort" and "Billie Rhodes" were shown, and also "Topical Budget" and "Irish Events."

PILLAR PICTURE HOUSE.—The programme at the Pillar Picture House yesterday was one of all-round merit. The pictures were—"The White Lie," in which the leading lady is Bessie Barriscale; "Through Canadian Rockies," "Winkle Makes Things Hum," "Bears and Badmen," and the final episode of the "Romance of Olive."

PRINCESS CINEMA, RATHMINES.—Yesterday the chief attraction at the Princess Cinema was "Eagle's Mate," a "Mary Pickford" film of absorbing interest. "Pathe's Gazette" and other interest and comedy reels were also shown. Thursday's picture will be "Missing."

KINGSTOWN PAVILION.—A generous programme was presented to the patrons of the Kingstown Pavilion by Mr. Gogan last night, and was thoroughly enjoyed. The principal feature was a delightful Goldwyn comedy drama, "Friend Husband," in which the chief rôle is filled by that excellent actress, Madge Kennedy. The play is both thrilling and laughter-provoking. Besides the musical fare, which was most pleasing, Chapter 2 of "A Fight for Millions," a right good comedy, "Reel Life" pictures and the Gazette made up a good entertainment.

KINGSTOWN PICTURE HOUSE.—The entertainment at the Kingstown Picture House last night well pleased a full house. The big feature of the programme was a "Goldwyn Star" production, "The Stronger Vow," in which Geraldine Farrar plays the principal part delightfully. Amongst other entertaining films were the Rex Beach Expedition, and comedy and topical views.

COMING EVENTS.

ORGAN RECITAL.—The organ recital arranged for this evening at 8 o'clock in St. Luke's Church promises to be a very interesting one. Mr. William E. Hopkins (sub-organist St. Patrick's Cathedral) will be at the organ, and the vocalists will include two Vicars Choral of St. Patrick's, Mr. T. F. Marchant and Mr. J. R. Morgan. Miss Kirk and Mr. John Gill (solo tenor Christ Church Cathedral) will complete the quartette. An attractive programme has been arranged.

"UP, THE MINORITIES."

This is the title of the latest publication brought out in connection with the Proportional Representation system in Ireland. It concisely explains the working of the system, with special reference to the important advantages that it gives minority interests. In view of the fact that the system is so soon to come into operation in Ireland, the booklet is well worth studying. The price of the booklet is 6d., and the publishers are the Kenny Press, Dublin.

"JAZZ" DANCING IN DUBLIN.

APPLICATION TO THE RECORDER

Before the Right Hon. the Recorder yesterday, at the City Sessions, Mr. McLoone, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Taylor, Son and Robinson), applied on behalf of John Parsell Mandeville, Anner Castle, Clonmel, for a music and dancing licence for the premises 35 Dawson street, Dublin. The applicant had served in the Navy during the war, and won distinction. He had been demobilised and had to select a career, and turned his attention to the establishment of a dancing hall in Dublin. Associated with him was Captain E. Cohen, who joined the Tank Corps as a private, and retired as a captain. Anyone could attend the dances on payment of 7/6 and 10/-, but objectionable people would be excluded. A place of this kind was needed. It was intended to teach dancing.

Mr. Lynch, K.C., who, with Mr. Joseph O'Connor (instructed by Mr. T. Byron), appeared for two ratepayers, Messrs. Joseph O'Malley Moore and A. J. Murray, and the Vigilance Association opposed the application, which, he stated, was first made on 16th October to Mr. Lapton by a gentleman calling himself Mr. Cecil Henri.

The applicant said that when he came to Dublin he found that there was no place such as that to which he was accustomed to go for dancing in England. Several people complained of the lack of high-class entertainment. He met a gentleman who undertook to start dancing if he were financed. It was his intention to run a high-class form of dancing at high prices, and the manager would have the right of refusing admission to anyone to whom he might object.

Mr. Lynch—This is a "jazz" band.

The Recorder—What is "jazz"?

Sir George Fottrell—It is a new form of music introduced into these realms from Africa probably.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch the applicant stated that the band was already playing in the Café Cairo. Mr. Cecil Henri was no longer connected with the business of the Elysée dances. The band, which included two coloured men, was brought from London. "Jazz" was a term mostly applied to noise. The music was so intense it captured the personality of the performers, and they made grimaces. The drummer had a variety of instruments ranged about the drum, and he made noises on them in turn. He admitted that he would be a competitor with the hotels, but the only refreshments would be lemonade and cakes. He intended to give Mr. Cohen, his manager, control, and he hoped to arrange for the formation of a ladies' committee.

The Recorder said that he was quite satisfied with every statement made by this respectable young man, who served his country well, and to whom some of them ought to take off their hats.

Mr. Reardon (instructed by Messrs. Lidwell and O'Reilly) asked the witness whether the "jazz" band was not a great attraction of a night club in London.

The witness replied that he had not been at a night club. The "jazz" was said to have been introduced in America by a nigger, who was afterwards lynched. (Laughter.)

Mr. McLoone mentioned that his client had called on the Vigilance Committee.

The Recorder remarked that he quite sympathised with the point of view of the Vigilance Committee.

Captain Edgar Cohen said that there was nothing suggestive in the "jazz" dance; it was no more voluptuous than the early Victorian dances.

Mr. Lynch, K.C., stated that, according to the Vigilance Association, both in Paris and London, the "jazz" had been hunted out of decent ballrooms, and it should not be tolerated in Dublin. In Dawson street it would be a greater outrage upon public feelings than if held in some more remote corner.

Mr. T. J. Deering, Chairman of the Vigilance Committee, said that Mr. Mandeville had called upon the Committee, and when asked by them whether Queen Mary had not banished the "jazz," he said that he had not heard of that. If the place were properly conducted, the Committee would not object.

Superintendent Willoughby, D.M.P., expressed the view that it would be fairly safe to grant the application, especially when the contract of letting could be terminated on 24 hours' notice.

The Recorder said that some of the objections to dancing were a combination of humbug and Phariseeism. He would put it to the test. He was not prepared to put a stop to a thing simply because he was told that it was wrong. He was not going to give a licence now, but if there was anything wrong or any arrière pensée he would put a stop to it.

Mr. John Clarke-Barry, in reply to Mr. Reardon, stated that he was the owner of one of the best known orchestras in Ireland, and played at all the best places in the country, including the Viceregal Lodge and the Gresham Hotel and hunt balls. He did not provide "jazz" music in the vulgar sense. By that he meant that the distortion introduced by the coloured members of the band made the music vulgar. It was not music in his opinion, but noise. Exaggerated "jazz music" by niggers was decidedly suggestive and indecent. He would not call "jazz" players musicians at all. "Jazz music" was excluded from the Viceregal Lodge and the Gresham Hotel.

The Recorder announced that he would have the hall watched by both the Vigilance Committee and the police, and if it were found that it could not be carried on without suggestion of immorality he would give no licence. He would give the applicant the chance of running the gauntlet of all this opposition.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

According to the interim statement for the past half-year, net profit of British Cotton and Wool Dyers' Association, familiarly known as "Slubbers," comes out at £53,211, against £38,218. The interesting feature of the report, however, is the proposal to capitalise £193,541 of the undivided profits. These will be issued as a bonus among the holders of the current 5/- Ordinary Shares—approximately, in the proportion of one new to each two old Ordinary scrip of 5/- each. This means 774,164 new shares. It is also possible that further funds may be required to meet any developments in the industry, as proposals are to be submitted to increase the capital. At present, as authorised, this amounts to £500,000. The creation of 2,000,000 new 5/- shares will raise it to £1,000,000.

It is stated that the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company and its associated companies, like many other British companies at the present moment, are considering very seriously which of the trades formerly carried on by the North German Lloyd and Hamburg Lines it is their duty, in the interests of the national welfare, to develop. They are postponing announcing their future policy, because they have lost so many vessels in the service of the country during the war, and have many of their remaining vessels still being re-conditioned. They feel it their first duty to protect their regular trades, and they are holding their hands for the moment, as regards the trades, which, in the past, were largely carried on by enemy companies.

The banking affiliation rumoured for some time has materialised, the London City and Midland having come to an arrangement with the Clydesdale Bank. It is understood that this will not mean any change in the personnel of the Clydesdale Bank. As in the recent case of the Barclays deal, the shares of the Clydesdale Bank will be taken over by the London Joint City and Midland Bank. The shareholders of the Clydesdale Bank will receive five fully paid up London Joint City and Midland Shares of 50/- each (present market value £8 10/- each) for each Clydesdale Bank Share of £50 (£10 paid). The dividend on a Clydesdale share is 36/-, while the dividend on five London Joint City and Midland shares is 45/-. The offer is contingent upon holders of 70 per cent. of Clydesdale shares assenting to the exchange. On December 31st last the Scottish institution had deposits to the extent of £30,254,000. The profits of the bank for last year were £315,680, and the dividend paid was at the rate of 18 per cent. The subscribed capital is £5,000,000, of which £1,000,000 is paid up, the shares being nominally of £50 each, with £10 paid up.

The following is a copy of a cable received from Bulawayo by the Gaika Gold Mining Company:—"The following are results of Rubble Reef development since date of our telegrams 20th October:—Number 2 Level—North Drive Payable Reef now exposed 110 feet at 145 feet in the drive; reef assays 2 ozs. 19 dwts. per ton over width of 3 feet at 150 feet, 1 oz. 11 dwts. over width of 6 feet 10 inches. Winze Number 2—From Number 2 Level, at depth of 20 feet, 12 dwts. over width of 3 feet, reef shows gold freely. Winze Number 1—South from Number 3 Level, at depth of 65 feet, assays 3 dwts. over width of 3 feet; at depth of 70 feet 9 dwts. over width of 3 feet. Reef improving in value."

Messrs. Kynoch, Limited, Witton, Birmingham, write:—"We see in several papers of Friday, November 21st, the report of the statutory meeting of the Alladin Renew Electric Lamp Corporation, Limited, in which the Chairman is reported to have referred to certain tests carried out by us on Renew lamps, the tests being described as 'exhaustive.' We think that it is possible that both shareholders and buyers may gather a wrong impression of the value to them of our trials, and one which we never intended our report to the company to convey. Our tests were confined to 14 lamps, and should not be taken as any expression of opinion by us that the success or failure of such lamp construction is thereby definitely settled."

In the report issued by the Board of the El Progreso Mexican Mines on the 1st October last shareholders were advised that the directors were taking steps to reinstate the company's titles to its mining properties in Mexico. The directors now report that they have received advice from their agent in Mexico that the company can be confirmed in the possession of nearly the whole of the properties upon payment of the arrears of rent and taxes, etc., amounting to about 5,000 dollars. This amount has been remitted to Mexico by cable, funds having been provided by several of the larger shareholders.

We are informed that the particulars of the much looked forward to "Armstrong" issue are available, and very attractive they appear. The 6½ per cent. Preference Shares are offered at the low price of 17/-, at which figure they yield over £7 12/6 per cent., and the Ordinary Shares, at 32/6, return over 10½ per cent. at the price on the basis of last year's rate of dividend, which the directors forecast will be at least maintained. It must be a very long time since so attractive a yield could be obtained on such high-class securities as "Armstrong," and the shareholders are to be congratulated that the Board have safeguarded their interests in the matter of allotment, thus securing to them a distinct "turn." The Chairman's letter, as was to be expected, is a model of restraint, but his speech at Saturday's meeting clearly indicates that the actual results may prove to be considerably better than even the brilliant figures disclosed.

The whole of the new issue of 200,000 South African Diamond Corporation Shares, at £2 each, has been underwritten by the National Mining Corporation.

Details of the scheme for amalgamating the Siberian mining undertakings which comprise the Urquhart group will probably be posted to the shareholders of the companies concerned to-day. The proposal is to amalgamate the Irtysh, Kyshtim, Russo-Canadian, and Tanalyk Corporations with a view to still further strengthening the intrinsic and financial position of the undertakings. The new company will be known as the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated, Ltd., and will have a nominal capital of £12,000,000 in £1 shares, a proportion of which will be issued in exchange for the assets of the Corporations above-mentioned. No fresh issue of shares for cash is at present contemplated, as the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated will have about a million pounds of cash assets.

It is officially announced that no sale of Horrockses, Crewdson, and Co., cotton spinners and manufacturers, Manchester and Preston, has taken place. An offer, which will be submitted to the shareholders, has been made.

THE IRISH COLLEGE OF GARDENING.

The Irish College of Gardening for women, whose regular work is now in full swing at Cypress Grove, Templeogue, is extending its activities in the interests of those who want occasional help and instruction in the management of their gardens. As will be seen from our advertisement columns, a Garden Association has been formed by those interested in the College, and members will be able to get expert advice from the highly qualified instructors at Cypress Grove, in addition to obtaining the benefit of lectures by experts on different practical subjects. The first lecture will be given on November 29 by G. O. Sherrard, M.C., A.R.C.Sc.I.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

St. George's Y.M.C.A.—Public meeting in the Parochial Hall to-night at 8.30 o'clock. A lecture on "The Manuscripts of the Old Testament" will be given by Rev. E. W. Greening.

CITY OF DUBLIN YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Managing Committee of the City of Dublin Young Men's Christian Association was held in the Association's building, Upper Sackville street, on the 20th inst., Mr. W. Houghton Fry presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer, after which reports were submitted from the War Emergency, Finance, Religious Work, and Recreation Committees. The War Emergency Committee reported that the work for the men of the Army and Navy was still being carried on at seventeen centres with success. Over 500 men were being provided with sleeping accommodation per week at the Abbey street Hostel. Over £4,000 worth of refreshments had been sold to the troops in the month of October. The Religious Work and Recreation Committees' reports showed increased attendances at almost all the classes and clubs, owing to the return of demobilised members. The financial statement showed a small credit balance on hands. Twelve new candidates were passed for membership of the Association, bringing the total number of new admissions for the year up to 78, as against 44 the previous year.

There being no further business, the meeting was closed with prayer.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED STRONG.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, MONDAY.

Stocks opened irregular. Then became strong on the improved money and exchanges and the resumption of pool buying of various specialities and popular Industrials, with advances of 1 to 9 points, but later reacted following the decline of 1 to 2½ points in Coppers, due to unfavourable trade conditions. Subsequently the market turned upward again, with Motors, Equipments, Shippings, Rubbers, and Sugars leading, the latter improving under the excellent trade conditions and favourable annual report on Cuba cane sugar. The closing was strong.

NEW ISSUE.

JURGENS LIMITED.

The prospectus appears elsewhere of an issue of 1,500,000 7 per cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares of £1 each at 21s. per share, the interest on which is guaranteed by Anton Jurgens' United Margarine Works, of Oss, Holland. After payment of the fixed dividend, the Preference Shares are entitled to a further dividend of ½ per cent. for every 1 per cent. of dividend above 7 per cent. paid in any year on the Ordinary Shares. In May last 1,000,000 of these Preference Shares were issued, and they are now dealt in around 22s. The Dutch company has acquired a controlling interest in the Olympia Oil and Cake Company, of Selby, which owns all the shares of the Selby Warehousing and Transport Company, and Ardol, Limited. The Olympia capital has been increased to £6,000,000, and of this Jurgens has subscribed at par for 1,000,000 12½ per cent. Participating Preference Shares. The new concerns acquired are valued at £1,812,896. The object of the present issue is to provide further working capital for Jurgens and for the payment for the above-mentioned Preference Shares of Olympia. Jurgens' directors stated that profits to date are sufficient to pay the guaranteed dividend on the Preference Shares already issued for the current year, and the 12½ per cent. dividend on the Olympia Shares is ample to cover the £105,000 per annum required to pay the interest on the shares now offered. There is, in addition, the guarantee of the Dutch company, which has recently subscribed for a further £1,500,000 Ordinary Shares in Jurgens, at par, upon which 2s. 6d. per share has been paid up, in addition to the £1,000,000 fully-paid Ordinary Shares already owned by it, of which more than £950,000 was subscribed in cash at par. The Dutch company has always paid 20, 25, or 15 per cent. on its five millions of Ordinary capital. The new Preference Shares are a well-secured industrial investment, and will, no doubt, be as confidently subscribed as the first issue in May last. The list will close on or before the 1st December.—(Prospectus page 7.)

CONQUEST

A Magazine of Modern Endeavour

CONQUEST records, describes and explains all the great achievements of modern Science, Invention and Industry. It takes its readers "behind the scenes" and shows them "how it is done."

It is scientific in its accuracy; but its language is such as the man in the street and the woman at home use and understand.

It is not a Magazine for specialists, but for the man and woman who wish to be well informed and to be able to take an intelligent interest in the marvellous advance of human knowledge and the triumphs of human endeavour.

It is as interesting from the first page to the last as the most fascinating romance, and absolute reliance may be placed upon every word of it. A host of photographic and other illustrations render its contents still more attractive and clear.

THE GIRL GUIDES.

MEETING OF COUNTY DUBLIN ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the County Dublin Association of the Girl Guides was held last Friday afternoon at 5 Leinster street, Dublin. Lady Wright, Guide Commissioner for County Kildare, presided. Among those present were:—Lady Shaw, Lady Gardner, Lady Ross, Mrs. Barker, M.B.E.; Mrs. Walsh, Miss Blandford, Miss M. Scott, and others. Regrets for inability to attend were received from Lady Talbot de Malahide, Lady HolmPatrick, Lady Grubb, Mrs. Hignett, O.B.E., Provincial Commissioner for Leinster; Miss Kathleen Scott, County Commissioner for Wicklow; Mrs. Horace Law, Mrs. George Peacocke, and others.

The annual report and financial statement were read, pronounced highly satisfactory, and adopted. An appeal was made for officers. Hundreds of children are waiting, and eager to be trained as Girl Guides, but the scarcity of teachers is great. The report quoted an extract from a letter written by Sir John Lumsden early this year. Having expressed grateful thanks for the help given by the Guides to the St. John Ambulance Brigade through the long years of the war, he continued:—"Your girls gave us splendid assistance; we would have found it very difficult to get on without them. They were always most willing, attentive, well-disciplined, and showed evidence of being thoroughly well trained."

The following ladies were elected to the General Committee for 1919-1920:—Lady Gardner, Lady Wright, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Barrett, Miss Blandford, Mrs. Cooke, Miss Fletcher, Mrs. T. E. Gordon, Miss L. Overend, Miss M. Scott, Mrs. Shanks, Mrs. T. Smalley, Miss May Stack, Mrs. Maud Walsh, and Mrs. Sydney Young.

An interesting account was given by Mrs. A. F. Dixon, County Dublin Commissioner, of the Guide Victory Rally in London on November 4th, at which she was one of the Irish colour party, when Viscountess Powerscourt, Deputy Chief Commissioner for Ireland, carried St. Patrick's flag in the procession.

A Brussels telegram of Sunday says:—The Moniteur publishes a decree exempting from taxation loans issued abroad, and facilitating the issue of such loans.

PROSPECTUS.

JURGENS LIMITED was incorporated in November, 1914, for the purpose of continuing, so far as related to Great Britain, the business carried on for almost fifty years by the Anton Jurgens' Margarine Works, and to erect factories here for the manufacture of Margarine.

In May, 1919, Jurgens Limited made an offer of 1,000,000 (Guaranteed) 7 per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares of £1 each for public subscription. These Shares have now obtained official quotations on the London, Manchester, and Glasgow Stock Exchanges.

The proceeds of that issue were required for the completion of the factory, then in course of erection, at Purfleet, and for the general purposes of the business. The Margarine Factory and the Refinery are now in operation, but the Crushing Plant, which was projected, will not be proceeded with.

The Capital of Jurgens Limited was on the 19th November, 1919, increased to £10,000,000, consisting of 5,000,000 7 per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares and 5,000,000 Ordinary Shares, all of £1 each.

Since the date of the above-mentioned issue, the whole of the £1,000,000 Share Capital of the Olympia Oil and Cake Company Limited, of Olympia Mills, Selby (hereinafter called "Olympia"), which Company owns all the Share Capital of the Selby Warehousing and Transport Company, Limited, and Ardol Limited, was acquired in pursuance of Contract No. 5 below mentioned for the sum of £2,500,000, and was paid for by Anton Jurgens' Vereenigde Fabrieken (hereinafter called "the Dutch Company"), and the Shares have now been vested in the Dutch Company or its nominees.

The nominal capital of Olympia has been increased to £6,000,000 and now consists of 2,000,000 Cumulative Preference Shares, 2,000,000 12½ per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares and 2,000,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each, and of these Ordinary Shares 1,000,000 have been issued and are held by the Dutch Company as mentioned above. Of the 2,000,000 12½ per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares Jurgens Limited has subscribed at par for 1,000,000. The remaining Share Capital is reserved for future issue.

The Participating Preference Shares are entitled to a cumulative 12½ per cent. dividend in priority to the Ordinary Share Capital, and are also entitled to participate equally in further dividends in any year after the Ordinary Shares have received 12½ per cent. On a winding up they are entitled to repayment of capital in priority to the Ordinary Shares, but not to any further participation in the assets.

A valuation of the properties owned by Olympia, the Selby Warehousing and Transport Company Limited and Ardol Limited has been made by the well-known valuers, Messrs. Edwin Fox, Burnett and Baddeley, whose certificate shows that they value the Freehold Properties of the Companies as going concerns, together with the Machinery, Plant, Rolling Stock, Barges and Furniture, at £1,812,896. It is intended to utilise part of the new Capital of Olympia in the purchase of additional plant and in erecting further buildings. It will therefore be seen that the Shares subscribed by Jurgens Limited are well secured.

The premises of Olympia adjoin those of the two subsidiary Companies, and the whole comprises a modern Oil Factory consisting of Crushing, Refining and Hardening Plants, with Storage for Seeds and Oils, River Craft and extensive Housing accommodation for workpeople. The business also includes a valuable Cake Sales Organisation, called Olympia Cattle Foods, Limited, dealing direct with Farmers and Stock-raisers, amongst whom the Olympia Specialities enjoy a deservedly high reputation. From this organisation Jurgens Limited will obtain considerable benefit.

Olympia has an extensive connection of its own, and, under the large orders placed with it, is now crushing and refining for Jurgens Limited, making the latter independent of outside sources for the supply of raw materials and rendering unnecessary the contemplated crushing Plant at Purfleet, which would have taken two years to erect. Owing to the close connection now established, the combined expert and technical experience of both Companies will be applied immediately not only to maintaining the high standard so essential in the Margarine Industry, and a considerable saving will be effected in the cost of production by the utilisation of the plant at Olympia to its full capacity.

The object of the present issue of £1,500,000 (Guaranteed) 7 per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares is to provide funds for further working Capital for Jurgens Limited, and for the payment up of the 1,000,000 12½ per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares of Olympia, subscribed by Jurgens Limited, upon which 1/- per Share has been paid on application.

The Directors are in a position to state that the profits of Jurgens Limited to date are sufficient to cover the guaranteed dividend on the Preference Shares already issued for the current year and to leave a substantial margin. The amount required to pay a year's dividend on the present issue is £105,000, and the 12½ per Cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares of Olympia subscribed by Jurgens Limited are entitled to a preferential dividend of £125,000 per annum in priority to the Ordinary Shares held by the Dutch Company.

The 7 per cent. dividend on the Preference Shares now offered for subscription, as well as on those issued in May, is guaranteed by the Dutch Company, which has recently subscribed for, and been allotted, a further £1,500,000 Ordinary Shares in Jurgens Limited, at par, upon which 2s. 6d. per Share has been paid up, in addition to the £1,000,000 fully-paid Ordinary Shares already owned by it, for which more than £950,000 was subscribed in cash at par.

The net profits of the Dutch Company during the last seven years have been as follows:—

	Paid up Capital. £	Net Profits. £	Dividends on Ordinary Shares.
1912	833,333	150,127	20 per cent.
1913	1,333,333	227,343	20 per cent.
1914	2,200,000	267,030	20 per cent.
1915	2,833,333	376,842	25 per cent.
1916	3,733,333	501,397	25 per cent.
1917	4,866,000	600,432	25 per cent.
1918	5,042,750	647,890	15 per cent. (carrying forward £303,828.)

In 1919 the paid-up Capital was further increased to £6,800,000.
(Treating 12 florins as equivalent to £1 sterling.)

The Directors of the Dutch Company state that the net profits for 1919 will exceed those of last year.

The following information is given in compliance with the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908:—

The Articles provide that on a show of hands every Member present shall (subject as regards Preference Shareholders to the provisions hereinafter contained) have one vote. On a poll, every Member who is present in person or by proxy shall (subject as regards Preference Shareholders to the provisions aforesaid), have one vote for each Share of which he is the holder. The Preference Shares in the Company's Capital shall not confer upon the holders the right to have notice of, or to attend or vote at any General Meeting (other than a separate General Meeting of the holders of the Preference Shares), unless the Meeting is convened for passing a Resolution to wind up the Company, or for authorising or approving the creation of a Mortgage or Charge or the issue of any Debentures or Debenture Stock secured upon the Company's property or assets, or any part thereof, or for passing any other Resolution directly affecting the special rights or privileges of the holders of the Preference Shares as distinguished from any other class of Shares in the Company's Capital.

An Agreement contained in letters dated 17th November, 1919, has been entered into with Messrs. Stoop and Company for underwriting this issue for a commission of 3 per cent., and an over-riding commission of 1 per cent. The issue of 1,000,000 Shares in May last was underwritten for a commission of 3 per cent., and an over-riding commission of 1 per cent. The whole of these Shares were allotted and are fully paid-up, £1 per Share having been paid thereon, with the exception of five Shares on which 5s. per Share only has so far been paid.

The undermentioned Contracts have also been entered into within the last two years, in addition to Contracts in the ordinary course of business:—

1. Dated the 14th October, 1918, between William McDonnell and William Francis McDonnell and Jurgens Limited.
2. Dated the 8th May, 1919, between the Dutch Company and Jurgens Limited, being a contract of guarantee.
3. Contained in letters dated 3rd May and 8th May, 1919, between Jurgens Limited and Messrs. Stoop and Company.
4. Dated the 17th November, 1919, between the Dutch Company and Jurgens Limited, being a contract of guarantee.
5. Dated the 18th July, 1919, between Joseph Watson, Esq., and Jurgens Limited.
6. Dated the 17th November, 1919, between Jurgens Limited and the Dutch Company.

The above-mentioned Contracts, or copies thereof, and the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the Company, can be inspected by intending Subscribers at the Offices of the Solicitors of the Company at any time during ordinary business hours whilst the Subscription List is open.

The minimum subscription on which the Directors may proceed to allotment is fixed by the Articles of Association at 7 Shares.

A Brokerage of 3d. per Share will be paid on allotments made in respect of applications bearing a Broker's or Banker's stamp.

Applications for Shares may be made on the accompanying form, or that enclosed with the Prospectus, and forwarded with the amount due on application to the London Joint City and Midland Bank Limited, Threadneedle street, E.C., or any of its Branches.

If no allotment is made, the deposit will be returned in full, and where the allotment is less than the number of Shares applied for, the balance will be applied to the payment of the amount due on allotment, and any excess will be returned to the applicant. Failure to pay any instalment will render previous payments liable to forfeiture. Any instalments in arrear may be charged interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum.

Applications will be made to the Committees of the London, Manchester and Glasgow Stock Exchanges for official quotations of the Shares now being issued.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

BANK STOCK AND CITY STEAM LOWER. BUOYANCY IN DUNDALK STEAM. DUNLOPS AND OILS.

General business on 'Change was quiet yesterday, but extraordinary activity and buoyancy was continued for specialities, including Dunlop Rubber Ord. and Oil shares, particularly Mexican Eagles. The Funds fluctuated a little. Banks were still offered, Bank of Ireland Stock adding 2¼ to Friday's 8 point drop. Breweries and Distilleries, after a dull opening, closed firm. Among Steam securities, City of Dublin Stock gave way sharply, but Dundalks were bid up to a further record level. Marconi shares were much weaker on realisations after recent improvement. Home Railways were steady, but Pre.-Ord. Stocks were occasionally weaker owing mainly to stagnant condition of the market. There was special bouyancy in Dunlop Rubbers on the proposed new issue of 1,000,000 Ord. shares. Parent Tyre Defd. shares turned very strong also and improved. Textiles were bid for, but Coats Ord. were weak. Calicos were extensively supported, and Bleachers and Dyers reached higher levels. There were excited dealings in Oil shares, with Mexican Eagles rampant, and up to 14 7/16 at the close. Shells also show a considerable advance.

The Funds were irregular. Consols rose ⅛, and War Loan 4 p.c. ⅛, but War Loan 5 p.c. fell ⅛, and Irish Land 2¾ p.c. ⅛. India Stocks show no alteration.

The only change in Banks, which were sellers generally, was a further fall of 2¼ to 209¼ in Bank of Ireland Stock.

Hibernians, Munsters, and Provincials maintained last prices.

In Breweries, Dublin Distillers Pref. improved 1/16 to 5⅞. Guinness Ord. opened ¼ lower at 34¾, but later rallied to 35. The Pref. repeated 10⅞.

Steam Stocks were irregular. City of Dublin Stock fell 4½ to 265, but Dundalks rose ½ further to 22½.

Among Marconis, the Ord. opened 1-16 lower at 325s., and later drooped 2s. further to 123s. Americans were better at 33s.-33s. 6d.

Home Railways were more or less stagnant. Great Southern repeated 69, and Midland Great Western 32, but the 5 p.c. Pref. of the latter fell 1 to 67, while the 4 p.c. Rent Charge Guaranteed rose 2 to 60. Dublin and Kingstown 3½ p.c. Debs. fell 7 to 57, and Wicklow "B" Debs., having opened 1 better at 58, later eased to 57.

In Trams, Dublin United Ord. repeated 7½, but the "B" 3½ p.c. Debs. quoted 69, and Provincial Pref. repeated 8.

Dunlops were a buoyant market on various rumours in connection with the new issue of Ord. Shares by the Dunlop Rubber Company, whose Ord. Shares closed 1/16 better at 11¼, after opening at 11-11 1/16-1/16, but the 6 p.c. Pref. closed sellers about 19s. 3d. Parent Tyres were scarce, particularly Deferred, which rose 3s. 6d. to 67s. 6d., and the Pref. 1½d. to 14s. 10½d.

Gas, Bakery, and Drapery Shares were idle.

Among Manufacturing Shares, Coats Ord. opened ⅛ lower at 7½, but later rallied to 8. Cottons at 21s. 6d., and Spinners at 82s. 6d., were unchanged. Bleachers rose 9d. to 35s., Dyers 1s. to 50s., and Calicos 7½d. to 25s. 10½d., after a large business at 25s. 7½d.-25s. 9d. Lever Brothers 6 p.c. Pref. fell 3d. to 20s., and Goulding Ord. 1-16 to 8⅛.

Trading shares were idle, and Miscellaneous securities show no change. Dublin South City Markets repeated 10¼, Irish Times 1st Pref. 77s. 6d., and the 2nd Pref. 17s.

As regards other business done, Cunard shares fell 2s. 6d. to 72s. 6d., and Furness Withy 1½d. to 64s. 9d., after being 64s. 6d. Imperial Tobacco opened 9d. better at 67s. 9d., but later fell to 67s., and Canadians closed steady at 26s. 9d. Kern River rose 6d. to 36s. 6d., 36s. 9d. Mexican Eagle 1⅞ to 14⅛, after being done very largely at 13¾, 14, 14¼, ⅛, ¼. Shells rose sympathetically ½ to 10⅝. Scottish-American Oil and Transport 5s. paid shares realised 10s.

After hours the following prices were called:—Dunlop Rubber, 11 1/16; do. D.A.T.S. "Pool," 38s. 9d.; Burmah Oil, 18⅛ ⅛; Mexican Eagle, 14⅛ ¼; Shells, 10⅝; Dundalk Steam very buoyant, and up to 23¼, and later 24.

LIVELY STOCK MARKETS.

LIQUIDATION DEPRESSES THE WAR LOAN.

ALL GOVERNMENT STOCKS DECLINE AFTER A GOOD BEGINNING.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Markets opened the week as they had closed its predecessor—full of life and buoyancy. A very large business was put through, most of it of a speculative description. Oils retained their lead, Mexican Eagles soared to another record altitude, Gold and Diamond shares had eager votaries, and there were several outstanding features in the Industrial list. Investment securities shared in the strength, but as was the case on Friday British Government issues experienced a nasty set-back in the latter part of the day, when the 5 p.c. War Loan was offered persistently. This liquidation brought the whole of the Gilt-edged list toppling down, so that it closed weak at materially lower levels. The source of the selling was obscure. Home Railways were lucky enough to escape this contagion, and maintained to the end a large degree of strength, to which demand and lack of supplies contributed about equally. Dollar securities moved down in accordance with the exchange. Argentine Rails made excellent progress, and though their final tone was a little under the best there was no decay of optimism. In the Foreign market improvement in the French Loans was the most conspicuous feature.

LONDON STOCKS STRONG.

SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCE ALL ROUND.

The Stock Exchange opened the week with a pronounced display of strength and activity, and many departments finished with a fairly substantial advance on the session under the lead of the speculative group. Oil Shares were prominently to the front again, and many of the principal counters, but especially Mexican Eagles, registered some very pronounced gains. Buying was well distributed, being on both local and provincial account, while quotations, owing to the diminution of monetary fears, proved easily responsive. The close was not far from the best of the day, though in the afternoon the pace slackened here and there. Gilt-edged issues were on the dull side, not sharing the prevailing improvement. War Fives at 91¼ were ⅛ down. The 4½ p.c. Loan did not vary. Miscellaneous gilt-edged issues were steady to dull, with a sagging tendency here and there. The Funding Loan and Victory Bonds were unchanged, the payment of yesterday's instalment having no effect. Irish Land Loans and Indian Government issues were without net improvement, though a fairly considerable business was transacted in India 3½ p.c.'s and Threes. New South Wales new 5½ p.c.'s were brisk around 99. Bank of England Stock was firm around 195.

Changes—Falls: Consols, ⅛ to 51; 3½ p.c. War Loan, ⅛ to 85⅛; 5 p.c. War Loan, ⅛ to 91¼.

FOREIGN BONDS IMPROVE.—In the Foreign market the general tone was satisfactory, though business was not on at all a large scale. French Loans met inside support for speculative purposes in connection with the new Loan arrangement. The Fives advanced ⅛ to 64¼. Russian Bonds ruled steady, without change. Greeks were hardly so good, and finished with some declines of a point. Egyptian Loans, however, held their ground, and had quite a steady tone. South Americans were not prominent, but several Argentine and Brazilian issues registered gains of a point. Peruvians were rather offered.

Changes—Rises: Argentine 5 p.c. (1907), 1 to 86½; Brazil Funding (1914), 1 to 74; Chinese 4½ p.c., 1 to 73½; do. 5 p.c. (1912), 1 to 75½; French Loan, ⅛ to 64¼. Falls: Greek Fives, 1 to 62; Japan New Fives, 1 to 81; Peruvian Pref., ½ to 47.

HOME RAILS BETTER.—Home Rails were in much better fettle. Business was on quite a fair scale. The Trunk and Trade group showed to chief advantage. In this sector there were several advances of ½ to 1. South-Western Ord. rose 3 to 76¼., and Midland Def. gained 1½ at 54½. Passenger Stocks tended forward in a quieter fashion. Scotch Stocks hardened narrowly.

CANADIANS QUIET AND ARGENTINES RISE.—Canadian Pacifics were marked back to 178 in connection with the recovery in the New York Exchange. Grand Trunk securities were again a quiet and uninteresting market. The demand for Argentine Rails persisted, and quotations left off with many advances of ½ to 1. United of the Havana reacted ½ to 94½, after last week's show of strength. Among Brazilian Rails, Leopoldinas were favoured, and rose 1½ to 45½.

Changes—Rises: B.A. Great Southern, 1 to 81½; B.A. Pacific, 1½ to 70; B.A. and Western, ½ to 86½; Central Argentine, 1½ to 67. Falls: Canadian Pacific, 2 to 178; United Havana, ½ to 94½.

ACTIVITY IN INDUSTRIALS BROADENS.

BOARD OF TRADE FIGURES AWAITED WITH THE KEENEST INTEREST.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday started the week in common with many other departments of the Stock Exchange in quite an impressive fashion. The buying movement on provincial account noted last week broadened out, and local support was on more than a moderate scale. The firmness of money had no noticeably adverse effect. Bargain-hunters were active throughout the day, and there was a good number of satisfactory points for individual counters to discount. Industry is, undoubtedly, getting into brisker swing all over the country. The increasing coal output is acting helpfully all round, and sometimes bringing the greatest relief. There is already talk that foreign trade figures for this month will make the best showing since the war, and the Board of Trade figures—due in about a fortnight—are consequently awaited with the keenest interest. Details of the new capital issue carried Dunlop Rubbers over 11, but the close was a shade under that figure. Textiles were in demand, apart from Coats, which experienced a moderate set-back. "Slubbers" were a strong spot on the scrip bonus. The Wireless group was heavy, some of the selling being on foreign account. There was fresh support for Cement descriptions, on the proposed Government subsidy for building concrete and other houses. Brazilian Tractions jumped afresh, reflecting the continued upward tendency of the Rio exchange.

Land shares were an irregular market, and only spottily brisk. Sudan Plantations came on offer and receded ⅛ to 7⅞. Hudson's Bays gained 1/16 at 8 1/16, but the Pref. lost that fraction. Hudson's Consolidated at 13/16 were also 1/16 down. There was a further advance of 2s. to 79s. 6d., in Niger old shares. Pekin Syndicate drooped 3d. to 33s. 9d., and Shansi shares 1s. to 25s. Rio Lands were good at 14s. 6d., and Duffs further recovered 1s. to 20s. 6d. In the Wireless group Marconi Ord. fell ⅛ to 6, and the Pref. ⅛ to 5⅞. Marine shares at 3 5/16 lost 1/16, and Spanish Wireless drooped 6d. to 14s. 6d. The American shares at 33s., however, were 6d. better. Cable descriptions were dull. The Iron and Steel section registered a number of moderate mixed changes, but the undertone was cheerful. Among Insurance shares there were many further gains. Shipping securities displayed fairly general cheerfulness. P. and O. Defd. added 5 at 685, but Royal Mails at 207½ lost a point. Indo-China Defd. continued its recovery to 55½, a gain of 3. Canada S.S. at 84 were another 1½ higher on dividend and bonus hopes. Cunards mended 1/16 to 3 7/16. King Lines at 3⅞ were ⅛ better. London American Maritime trading at 41s. were 1s. higher. Trust securities were firm. Army and Navy Trust Defd. at 115 were 3d. better. Banks were steady, with little movement, though Bank of Montreal shares at 47½ were ½ up. Breweries maintained their harder front. Courtaulds were supported among Textiles, closing firmly and 1/16 higher around 12. British Cotton and Wool Dyers rose to 13s. 6d. on the decision to capitalise undivided profits and distribute the scrip to holders as bonus. Calico Printers improved the turn to 25s. 6d., and the Pref. at 15s. was 6d. higher. Coats, however, reacted ⅛ to 7⅞, and Hoyles were back to 3 1/16. As regards Caterers, Aerateds were put up to 4⅞ on the meeting. Lyons were steady, without change at 5⅛. Liebigs reacted ⅛ to 27. Home and Colonial 6 p.c. Pref. at 4⅛ was 1/16 down. Bovril Ord. settled back 1/16 to 1. Apollinaris Ord. at 3¼ was ⅛ weaker. Schweppes Defd. at 13/16 was 1/16 higher. Associated Cement was bid up another 1s. to 25s. 3d. Dunlop Rubbers, after being 11 1/16, finished ⅛ higher at 10 15/16. Motors were checkered. Darracqs were put up 1/16 to 1 15/16 on inside support in connection with the proposed new issue. Napiers fell 6d. to 31s. 6d. National Steam Cars at 17s. were 6d. down. Imperial Tobaccos lost the turn at 67s. 3d., but Imperial of Canada at 27s. 6d. gained 9d. British American shares were steady. Canadian American securities showed several falls of ⅛ to 1 on the better American exchange. City Services at 525 were 5 down. Brazil Tractions added 1⅞ at 62.

MINES AGAIN BUOYANT.

ALL-ROUND BUYING OF KAFFIRS. FURTHER BIG GAINS. SHARP RECOVERY IN BARRIERS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

That the confidence of members noticeable on Friday last was not misplaced was clear from the strength and buoyancy of markets at the opening yesterday. Indeed, the public had apparently caught the infection, and, so far as Mining markets are concerned, bullishness was almost everywhere in evidence. In the Kaffir section buyers predominated, and the execution of a fair accumulation of orders kept prices moving in the upward direction. The enormous difference which the free marketing of gold is likely to make to the producing companies, and to which we have so frequently drawn attention, is gradually, but surely, being more widely appreciated, and not only were the home public in the market, but Paris and Cape purchases of favourite counters helped to lift quotations all round. The demand found floating supplies none too plentiful, and the gains were consequently of fairly substantial proportions. Just before the close a little slackening of the buying movement became noticeable, but beyond modest professional profit-taking there was no selling of importance, and prices finished practically at the top. Such representative Shares as Central Mining, Rand Mines, Anglo-American Corporation, Modderfontein, Crown Mines, Government Mines, Randfontein, Rand Selection, Union Corporation, and Geduld were all substantially higher, and the lower-priced descriptions also came in for considerable attention. Rhodesians, though better inclined, were somewhat diffident, thanks largely to the dulness and uncertainty of Chartered, but Tanganyika and Zambesia were better, and Gaika went ahead. After the big advance of Friday last it would not have been surprising to find De Beers easier, but there was again a steady inquiry, and the price further hardened, while Jagersfontein were also better, and other Diamonds kept firm. It is announced that the whole of the new issue of 200,000 shares of the South African Diamond Corporation at £2 each has been underwritten by the National Mining Corporation. Tin descriptions were fairly active, and interest would seem to have shifted from the Cornish issues to Nigerians, many of which finished higher, partly on the rise of £3 17s. 6d. to £288 17s. 6d. in the metal price. With regard to Ropps, it is rumoured that a bonus issue of 1½ shares for each share held is in contemplation. A couple of the West African Gold Shares moved up, and Goldfields of Eastern Akkim were well supported, and finished higher. A feature was the renewal of activity in Barrier descriptions, not only on account of the rise in silver—which, by the way, has now reached the unprecedented level of 75½d. per ounce—but also on hopes of the early settlement of the Labour troubles. Props, Brit, and Norths were appreciably higher, and others followed their lead. Lake View were better among Westralians. Coppers were quiet, but there was a little nibbling at Russians, and we understand that particulars of the amalgamation proposals of the leading undertakings will be in the hands of shareholders to-morrow. Burmas reacted on profit-taking, and British Platinum were easier for a like reason, but Chemical and Metallurgical went ahead, and there was a distinct rally in Indian descriptions. Santa Gertrudis fell back rather sharply.

OILS STRONG.

MEXICAN EAGLES BREAK ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS. BIG BUSINESS IN SHELLS, BURMAHS, AND UROZ OILFIELDS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Oil shares commenced the week in good style, with the leaders in strong and active demand, while animated dealing took place among the more speculative descriptions. The outstanding feature was provided by Mexican Eagles, which opened well above Friday's level, and in response to persistent buying went rapidly ahead to the record price of 14⅞. Although this price was not maintained to the close, the shares nevertheless finished at a substantial advance. One factor which accounted for the buoyancy of these shares was the strength displayed by them in Paris at the week-end, whilst in addition there was talk of another pool in the shares. At the same time the successes on the Naranjos fields helped the market, and the much talked of bonus issue is confidently expected early in the new year. Burmahs also advanced appreciably, but finished below the best, and Shells were a strong market at well above Friday's level. In other directions a noteworthy feature was Scottish-American Oils, which, following up the sharp rise of Friday last, received active attention, rising at one time to 7s. 9d. premium. This price was not held to the close, although a substantial gain was still recorded. Strength continued to be displayed by English Oilfields, and Trinidad and Russian issues were steady. Anglo-Persian Prefs. further weakened on the proposed new issue, and Anglo-Egyptian "B" finished easier. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES HARDER.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The price of rubber was harder at 2s. 4½d. per lb. A considerable business was done in the Share market, and a number of rises were recorded, while movements in the other directions were few and far between. Considerable interest was aroused by the announcement of an amalgamation between Carey United and Jugra Lands. Holders of Carey United are to receive two and a half shares for one, and holders of Jugra Lands three and a half shares for one. The last-named shares have changed hands between 78s. 9d. and 80s., and Carey United were 56s. 3d. bid. Rubber Trust eased a few pence to 42s. 9d., as did Anglo-Dutch to 52s. 6d. Ayer Kuning were in request, and improved 1/16 to 61s. 3d. Batu Kawan changed hands at 44s. 4½d., and looked strong. Other Coconut-cum-Rubber Shares were also in demand. Jong Lander rose 1/16 to 70s., and Jugra Estate spurted 3s. to 78s. 6d. upon the dividend of 25 p.c., with bonus of 25 p.c., and a proposal to capitalise reserves and distribute a share bonus. Johore Rubber Lands were a shade lower at 38s., and K.M.S. lost 1s. 6d. at 35s., but Ledbury gained a similar fraction at 58s. 9d., and Straits Rubber were up ⅛ at 6¼, while Sennah had a further rise. In the Floriner section Bekoh were harder at 4s. 10½d. bid, and B.R.E. of Java rose to 6s. 2½d. bid. Kombok were active around 7s. 4½d., while Teluk Piah were again in keen request, with a further rise to 4s. 4½d. On the other hand, Galang Besar weakened to 2s., sellers upon a disappointing report. In the Borneo group Lok Kawi hardened a little to 25s. 3d., and Manchester N.B. were also a trifle higher at 43s.

THE MONEY MARKET.

ANOTHER RISE IN SILVER.

Bank Rate (changed Nov. 6, 1919).......... 6 p.c.

There was a call on the Victory Bond issue to be met yesterday, and other displacements in calls and dividend payments totalled about a quarter of a million. The demand for loan accommodation was keen again. The rate for call money during the morning was 4½ to 4¾ p.c., and even higher, with practically no surplus balances offering. Weekly and other short fixtures were arranged at 4¾ to 5 p.c. Discounts were firm, without activity, despite the improvement in the New York exchange. The demand for three months' bills was fairly keen at 5⅝ to 5 11/16 p.c., while six months' drafts were quoted at 5½ to 6 p.c. Sixty-day bills were firm at 5⅝ to 6 p.c., with sellers rather more plentiful than buyers.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

VAUXHALL RUBBER.—Dividend of 10 per cent.

MOCHA TEA OF CEYLON.—Final dividend of 20 per cent., making 30 per cent. for the year.

DOMINION BANK (CANADA).—Usual quarterly dividend of 3 per cent., plus a bonus of 1 per cent.

BARRY GRAVING DOCK AND ENGINEERING.—Further dividend of 5 per cent., making the usual 10 per cent. for the year.

PAHANG CONSOLIDATED CO., LTD.—Final dividend of 10 per cent. (making 15 per cent. for the year) on the Ordinary Shares recommended. The above dividend carries with it the payment of an additional 5 per cent. on the 7 per cent. Pref. Shares, less tax.

CASTNER KELLNER ALKALI.—Net profit, after allowing for the amount required for keeping up the works, plant, and machinery to the highest state of efficiency, is £190,655 3/10. To this has been added the amount brought forward from last account, £48,819 4/11, making £239,474 8/9. After the deduction of Debenture interest and the interim dividend paid on 10th June, 1919, there is left an available balance of £171,876 4/7. The directors recommend the appropriation of this balance as follows:—£50,000 to depreciation reserve, increasing that account to £637,500; £70,000 in payment of a final dividend of £7 per cent., making (with the interim dividend paid in June) £13 per cent. for the year, payable on 3rd December, leaving £51,876 4/7 to be carried forward.

BARRETT GOLD MINING.—The report to February 28 last states that the year's operations resulted in a loss of £4,431, increasing the debit balance of profit and loss account to £17,865. The Board has, therefore, decided to close down until sufficient capital is provided to thoroughly prove the rest of the ground, the only other alternative—and this the directors are anxious to avoid—being to liquidate the company and realise the remaining assets. In order to pay off the mortgage and provide funds for prospecting, etc., the board are of opinion that further capital, amounting to not less than £20,000, should be raised. It is suggested that 40,000 shares of 10/- each should be issued, entitled to a cumulative dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, with further participation in the surplus profits after the holders of the Ord. Shares have received 10 per cent. per annum.

CONSOLIDATED GOLDFIELDS OF SOUTH AFRICA, LTD.—The report of the directors states that the realised profit on the year's operations is largely derived from dividends received on investments, and, after deducting Debenture interest and all outgoings, shows a balance to credit of £544,107 9/11, from which the dividends on the First and Second Pref. Shares, French, South African, and American Government taxes have been provided, leaving £388,961 19/6. Against this profit a depreciation of £194,335 5/4 has been charged in order to reduce holdings to market price in the case of quoted securities, or to their estimated value in the case of unquoted securities. To the remaining balance of £194,626 14/2 has been added the sum of £60,094 19/7, brought forward from last year, showing an available balance £254,721 13/9. In addition to the foregoing profit, the company's investments show on current market prices, and on an estimate of unquoted investments, a further large unrealised profit. Investments stand in the books at average cost or under, and are taken into account at prices at or below those current at the date when the accounts were made up. The directors recommend that a cash dividend of 7½ per cent., free of income tax, be paid on the 2,000,000 Ordinary Shares amounting to £150,000, leaving £104,721 13/9 to be carried forward to the credit of the current year's profit and loss account. Full information concerning the mines controlled by the company in the Transvaal is contained in the report.

COMPANY NOTICES.

TAMPICO PANUCO OIL FIELDS, LTD., AND CHIJOLES OIL, LTD.

As from numerous enquiries received it would appear that recent reports as to the giving out of oil wells in the Tepetate District of Mexico are causing anxiety to the Shareholders of the above Companies, the Directors desire to state that the district referred to lies about 90 miles south of the Panuco Oilfields, where the properties in which the shareholders are interested are situated, and that the reports on the Tepetate Oil Wells have no bearing on either the properties in which the above Companies are interested or on the new properties, the acquisition of which is contemplated by the Directors.
